KIDNAPING IS LAID TO MYSTERY HEAD OF EDUCATED GANG

"Handsome Jack" Klutas, University Graduate and Chief of Unique "Mob," Blamed for California Abduction.

RANSOM OF $500,000 THOUGHT OBTAINED

Elusive Criminal Keeps Out of News by Repeated Fade-Aways and Destruction of Evidence.

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—(AP)—"Handsome Jack" Klutas, university graduate and reputed head of a kidnap band that is accused of collecting a half million dollars in ransom, today was blamed by authorities here for the abduction of Brooke L. Hart, of San Jose, Cal.

"Klutas recently was in California," said an attorney of the state's office assigned to investigate the gang, "and the June long has been one of his hangouts. I am convinced that he had a hand in the California abduction."

Federal, state and county officers in the Midwest for years have been searching for Klutas, Mal Coughlan, assistant state's attorney, said. The gang, supposedly based in Atlanta, is blamed for the kidnaping of James Hackett, Blue Island gambler, and a dozen others.

Will Hackett, who had agreed to testify before the federal grand jury and the prosecutor said he expected speedy voting of true bills against several persons as members of the gang.

In custody are Frank Souder, Benton (Ill.) gambler, held on bonds of $200,000; and Julian (Habe) Jones, of St. Charles, Ill., and Gale Swallow, held without charge.

The gang is not the typical underworld mob, Coughlan said. "All the members are well educated and use three and four-syllable words with facility. The leaders are probably the slickest in the United States."

"For seven years authorities have been on the trail of Klutas, a name that hasn't reached the public prints frequently because Klutas has been able continually to give peace officers the slip and because of the difficulty of connecting him with crimes."

Plenty of Money. "The gang has money, plenty of it. Several times officers have been within a few minutes of arresting Klutas, but he has been quick-witted enough to do a complete fade-away, taking with him or destroying any incriminating evidence."

The genesis of the gang is obscure. Klutas, said to be a member of a...

Ohio Governor's Son Dies in Auto Accident

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 12.—(AP) Robert White, 21-year-old son of the governor of Ohio and a student at Princeton University, was killed near here late last night in an automobile accident.

White was driving an automobile near Belle Meade about 11 p. m. and the machine swerved suddenly from the highway and struck a tree. His neck was broken.

Goodrich Lowry, of New York, and Miss Evelyn Higgins, of Rochester, N. Y., were passengers in the automobile, but were not hurt seriously.

Princeton authorities notified White's father as soon as they heard of the tragedy early this morning. White was a senior at Princeton and was popular on the campus. He was a member of the Colonial Club and the third son of Governor George White to attend the university.

Fair Curtain Drops; To Rise Again in June

CHICAGO, Nov. 12.—(AP)—The world's biggest show—a Century of Progress—dropped its curtain at midnight with a bigger and better encore promised next June.

Opened May 27 and hailed as a harbinger of returning prosperity, the 1933 World's Fair won acclaim of the nation and foreign visitors and rolled up the largest attendance record of any exposition in the United States.

Nearly 22,500,000 persons flocked to the nation's second city spending money and flaunting the word depression.

On the fair grounds the visitors spent an average of about $1.15 each—a total of $25,545,000. Outside of the fair grounds, according to estimates of the Association of Commerce, some $400,000,000 was expended by the millions of visitors.

SENATORS THOMAS AND SMITH CALL MONEY MEETING

"All Schools of Monetary Thought" Asked To Meet in Capital November 17 To Shape Policy.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Senators Thomas, Democrat, Oklahoma, and Smith, Democrat, South Carolina, tonight issued a call for a conference of "all schools of thought on monetary reform" to meet here November 17.

In an accompanying statement, Thomas asserted that the price of gold must be raised to $41.34 an ounce, the gold standard of 1900, if the United States is to return to the gold standard.

Among those invited were directors of the committee of the nation, a private organization, leaders of the principal farm organizations, and Senators Pittman, Democrat, Nevada; Wheeler, Democrat, Montana; Borah, Republican, Idaho; Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi; and Fletcher, Democrat, Florida.

Although the various groups to be represented at the conference have been outspoken in their demands for currency expansion, the conference will represent an attempt to unite for the first time on a policy.

Renegotiation of silver will be one of the subjects for discussion. Thomas said that gold must be "adequately priced" so as to sustain the 1926 price level, after which the value of the dollar should be maintained by a metallic base for our currency sufficiently broad to bear a reasonable relationship to our volume of bank deposits and the total volume of business needed to restore employment.

After this has been accomplished, he said, the major implement for controlling and stabilizing the value of the dollar should be variation of the discount rate. Following stabilization it should not be necessary to "juggle the price of gold so often as Great Britain is doing now," he added.

ROOSEVELT AIDS STUDY OF MONETARY MACHINERY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(AP)—President Roosevelt examined the administration's complex monetary machinery in a lengthy White House conference today which indicated a continuation of the price-lifting, gold control campaign.

With his principal financial aids, Mr. Roosevelt went carefully over the world monetary situation, apparently to make sure that his efforts toward raising gold prices were proceeding as ordered.

It was stated at the White House after the conference of more than three hours that the parley was routine in nature and dealt with current monetary and financial matters.

All the president's financial advisers conferred with him. Those present included Secretary Woodin, Eugene Black, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York; and Professors James H. Rogers, of Yale, and George E. Warren, of Columbia, monetary advisers to the president.

MRS. ANNE CROWE HELD FOR MURDER IN DUPREE'S DEATH

Slaying Laid to 25-Year-Old Mother by Coroner; Another Atlanta Man Is Shot by Wife.

A charge of murder was lodged against Mrs. Anne Crowe, 25-year-old mother, Sunday following a coroner's inquest into the death of R. D. Dupree, 41, former policeman, who was shot to death Friday night in an automobile on Juniper street.

Meanwhile, police had a new shooting to investigate Sunday after Mrs. O. C. Calder, of 70 Whitford avenue, shot and seriously wounded her husband at a filling station he operates at 43 Whiteford avenue. The shooting was the result of domestic trouble, and Mrs. Calder was released under $1,000 bond Sunday afternoon. Her husband is at Grady hospital.

Coroner Paul Doneho, who conducted the Dupree investigation, said the position of the bullet wound and other circumstances led him to believe that it was impossible for Dupree to have committed suicide, as Mrs. Crowe told police he did.

The young mother will be held for the state courts and will be taken from the police station to Fulton tower some time today. The coroner's inquest started as the body of Dupree was taken from a gunshot wound fired by Mrs. Anne Crowe.

Mrs. Crowe hysterical. Sunday afternoon the woman was hysterical in her cell at the police station. "I don't care about being in jail," she cried, "but I am sorry my baby (Dupree) is gone."

The murder charge did not seem to worry Mrs. Crowe. She kept repeating "I love my baby's son." She said she was just waiting for the time when she can join him. Saturday she was worried as to "what will they do to me?" but Sunday afternoon she seemed not to care about herself.

G. N. Beavers, of 680 Juniper street, near whose home Dupree was killed Friday, told police that he saw Mrs. Crowe driving her car, a 1932 Buick, at 1042 Juniper street, and Sidney B. McNair, of 850 West Peachtree place, was closely questioned by Doneho as to the facts of the case.

Beavers said he heard Mrs. Crowe scream and that he threw the gun up a bank into the weeds "to keep her from killing herself." He was the man in the light gray overcoat referred to in earlier stories about the shooting.

The inquest was held Sunday morning at the establishment of the J. Austin Dillon Company, who will announce funeral arrangements for Dupree.

William Schley Howard has been retained by Mrs. Crowe as her attorney. Calder, said to be in a serious condition at Grady, was wounded twice in the hip and lower abdomen.

Mrs. Calder, who is middle-aged, told police she and her husband had been having trouble for some time. Sunday morning at 7:45 o'clock she went to the filling station and asked him to get her some coffee. He intended to come home any more. He told her "No," which started a violent argument between them.

The man struck her on the head with a soda drink bottle, Mrs. Calder said, and when she started to leave the service station he followed her with two bottles. She grabbed up a pistol which is kept behind the counter of the place and fired three bullets at her husband, only two taking effect.

Calder begged police not to arrest him. He said, saying that it was his hip that had been injured and that his wife had done it. He said he saw no reason why police should take her into custody but Detective Ginn and McGarity arrested her at the scene.

She was released Sunday afternoon when she furnished $1,000 bail. William Clifford Anderson, 31, of near Atlanta early Sunday morning. GRAU DEMANDS WELLES' REMOVAL FROM CUBAN POST

Sergio Carbo Accuses U. S. Ambassador of Plotting With Rebels To Overthrow President.

AMERICAN IS FREED BY HAVANA TROOPS

HAVANA, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Humberto Allen, son of an American resident of Havana, who was arrested during mopping up of rebellious elements, was released today.

He said he was taken Tuesday night while driving in an automobile with three friends and did not know the reason for his confinement. There were no charges against him.

HAVANA, Nov. 12.—(UP)—Demands that U. S. Ambassador Sumner Welles be withdrawn from his post in Cuba were voiced by some supporters of President Ramon Grau San Martin today.

The president's confidants charged that Ambassador Welles had encouraged the abortive rebellion against the Grau regime which was suppressed last week. They asserted that his withdrawal was essential to continued good relations between Cuba and the United States.

The attack on Ambassador Welles was led by Sergio Carbo, influential Havana newspaper publisher and one of President Grau's closest unofficial advisers.

Carbo charged that Welles had conferred with the leaders of last week's rebellion, and encouraged them to overthrow Dr. Grau, returning Dr. Carlos Manuel de Cespedes to power. In a lengthy editorial in his newspaper, La Sembrar, Carbo flatly charged Ambassador Welles with sympathy for the rebel movement.

He said the people of Cuba desired to remain friends with the United States, but concluded: "Franklin Roosevelt, you who are a friend of liberty, you who are our friend, take Sumner Welles away."

The student newspaper, Alma Mater, voiced a similar plea. The students charged that Ambassador Welles encouraged the uprising last Wednesday which resulted in some 200 dead and hundreds wounded during two days of heavy fighting in the capital and environs.

They added that Welles had inspired the battle at the National hotel, where several hundred army officers recently held out against the Grau administration but finally were taken prisoner after hard fighting. The students demanded the ambassador be given his passports.

The demands were regarded as of more than passing significance, inasmuch as Dr. Grau, a professor of medicine in the University of Havana, came into power through the uprising of students and the sergeants in the Cuban army, in September. Their opinions generally are regarded as reflecting his.

Four Children Perish As Farm Home Burns

KAUKAUNA, Wis., Nov. 12.—(AP)—Four children, members of a farm family living about five miles from here, burned to death and four other children escaped when fire of undetermined origin destroyed their home today.

The dead, children of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Evers, were: Rosella, 11; Margaret, 9; Martha, 3; and Norbert, 11 months old.

The fire broke out while the parents were at a neighbor's nearby. Four persons, including the father, were cut and burned as they tried frantically to reach the victims, all asleep on an upper floor.

Thirteen-year-old Geraldine Evers, sleeping with one of the three children on the first floor, awoke to find the place in flames. She stumbled through the bedroom to reach the telephone and called the closest neighbor, John Hendricks. Then she bundled Richard, 2; Cecilia, 5, and Bertilla, 7, outside the house.

Hendricks and another neighbor, P. M. Johnson, climbed a ladder to the second story, smashed a window and attempted to reach the imprisoned children, but were forced back by the flames.

Evers arrived and entered the building. Other neighbors had to drag him from the house and hold him forcibly to prevent his return.

Youth's Death Charged To Crushing in Grid Mob

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 12.—(UP)—The possibility that Jay F. Towner III, of Perryman, Md., was crushed to death in the crowd which attended the Princeton-Dartmouth football game yesterday was being investigated today by Princeton authorities.

The youth's body was found on the Princeton University campus last night. Both Coroner Frank Grave and Chief of Detectives James Kirkham expressed the opinion that Towner may have been crushed against a concrete wall while leaving Palmer stadium yesterday.

An autopsy showed he had suffered internal ruptures, abrasions of the face, fractures of both wrists and an internal hemorrhage.

Persons who picked him up and started with him for the university infirmary may have thrown his body out of their car, fearing that they would become involved in his death, officials said.

U. S. WILL MAKE FOUR-CENT LOANS ON OPTION COTTON

Advances Made Possible by Tentative Commitment of $37,000,000 RFC Group.

By ROY F. HENDRICKSON. WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Farm officials have decided to make loans on cotton on which options were given farmers as part of their benefit payments for plowing up more than 10,000,000 acres of their growing crop last summer.

It was disclosed tonight that a tentative commitment of $37,000,000 from the Reconstruction Corporation has been arranged.

The loans will be made through the Commodity Credit Corporation. Details of the plan are expected to be completed within ten days, but it is intended to make possible loans of four cents a pound on more than 2,500,000 bales.

This is the third of the major farm loan programs being arranged through the commodity corporation, the newest of the government's financial agencies. It is now making loans of 10 cents a pound on actual cotton held by farmers and will soon begin making loans of 45 cents a bushel on corn.

$300,000,000 Volume. The cotton loan program now under way involves a potential volume of $300,000,000. The second program involves about $200,000,000. In the case of both cotton and corn loans, the borrowers are required to join the government's production control campaign. Government officials assert that, with production control, higher prices in the future are "certain" and that the loans are secure.

They regard this loan program as being in a different category than the farm board's stabilization efforts in which the government guaranteed prices.

Assassin's Shots Miss Spanish Fascist Chief

CADIZ, Spain, Nov. 12.—(AP)—A spectacular attempt to assassinate Jose Antonio Primo De Rivera, leader of Spanish fascists and son of Spain's late dictator, brought death to one man and serious injury to four others in the neighboring town of San Fernando today.

Two of the wounded are members of the famous winging family, socially, politically, and financially prominent in Spain. They are Natalia Larios De Domecq and Stanislaus Domecq Gonzalez.

The man killed by the bullet aimed at De Rivera was Sigismundo Garcia Mantilla.

Under the cover of an exuberant crowd of 45,000 people, who greeted De Rivera and other speakers at a fascist meeting, a lone, unidentified assailant fired several shots at the speakers' platform from the audience.

Mantilla, Gonzalez and Mrs. Domecq slumped to the platform. The speakers survived the volley of shots unharmed.

SMALL MINORITY HAS THE TEMERITY TO OPPOSE NAZIS

Heavy Vote Is Cast With 93.9 Per Cent of Ballots Backing Chancellor in Withdrawal From League of Nations.

BERLIN, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Overwhelming indorsement of Chancellor Hitler's foreign policies and the Nazi regime came today from the German electorate in what was obviously the largest vote in the history of the nation.

The final vote as reported by Wolff's agency showed well over 90 per cent of the ballots in favor of Nazi political domination and an even larger portion of "yes" on the national plebiscite.

For the Nazi slate of candidates in the reichstag, 39,621,437, or 92.2 per cent; invalid votes, 3,345,125, or 7.8 per cent; total, 42,966,562.

In the plebiscite, "Yes," 40,583,430, or 93.5 per cent; "No," 2,652,100, or 4.7 per cent; invalid, 789,990, or 1.8 per cent; total, 43,235,529.

Ballots were considered invalid if they were unmarked or if the method indicating the voter's intention was technically incorrect or if a ballot was so marked that clerks were unable to discern the voter's intention.

Bugles. In the gray morning hours of a murky November day bugle blasts awakened German citizens to their voting duty. It was the second national election since the Nazi advent to power. The election meant but one thing—indorsement of Hitler and his policy of approval of his stand for peace with honor and equality among nations.

This was the stand taken by the chancellor during the election campaign and at the time of Germany's withdrawal from the League of Nations.

The ballot count proceeded with surprising slowness. By early evening only a little over 8,000 votes had been counted, which was considerably less than at the same time in previous elections, although today there was only one slate, the voter's intention.

Moscow, Tokyo Deny Planes Shot Down

MOSCOW, Nov. 12.—(AP)—The foreign office today denied reports published abroad that Japanese planes had been shot down on Soviet territory.

There have been no further reports of Japanese flights into Soviet territory since the government warned Tokyo last November 6 to behave or infringe the Siberian border.

TOKYO, Nov. 12.—(AP)—The war office asserted today that reports of Japanese planes being shot down at the Siberian border were absurd and groundless.

Sunday afternoon newspapers here used the headline "Foolish Propaganda" in discussing reports printed abroad that planes were fired on and that Japanese auxiliary warships sunk in Soviet territorial waters.

The war office, navy office, foreign office and headquarters of General Hainiching, all branded the reports as baseless and ridiculous.

AERIAL JOY RIDERS HURLED TO DEATH

Three Die as Early Morning Sky Jaunt Ends in Disaster.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(AP)—An early morning sky ride ended fatally for three men today when their airplane lost a wing over Brooklyn and crashed into a tenement house.

The dead were Adam Rowinski, Henry Rothbrosky, and Louis Kuhn, all of Brooklyn. The pilot, Frank Kapkowitz, was critically injured.

The plane had been rented from an aviation company by Kapkowitz, who held a limited commercial license. The men, dressed in evening clothes, boarded the ship at 7:40 a. m. at Curtis field.

A few minutes after the takeoff the ship was in trouble. It lost some "rise" and appeared unable to gain any altitude. A wing either collapsed or was torn away as the plane skimmed over three elevated tracks.

The pilot apparently was headed for a huge garbage dump in Brooklyn, the only possible landing place in the crowded neighborhood.

He barely missed several buildings and then crashed into a 12-family tenement house. The plane caught fire and plunged to the street.

Rowinski was thrown clear of the wreckage and died instantly. Rothbrosky and Kuhn died at Trinity hospital.

The pilot suffered a fractured skull

Broadway Gives a Sad 'Big Hand' To Tex Guinan in Final Departure

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Broadway gave "the little girl a great big hand" today as she made her last trip up the long street she had loved so well.

A crowd estimated by police at 10,000 massed outside in orderly tribute to the funeral services were held in an upper Broadway chapel for Mary Louise Cecilia Guinan, night club hostess, actress and entertainer. She was eulogized as "Great-Hearted Tex"—friend of the world.

Then her body was borne up the long thoroughfare—away from Times square—and buried in the Gates of Heaven cemetery at White Plains.

Seventy-five policemen, ten of them mounted, patrolled the area where a few years ago crowds surged and heaved for a final glimpse of Rudolph Valentino.

But for Texas, lying in a silvered bronze coffin, there was no disorder. The crowds surged and heaved to see her borne away, but there was no shattering of plate glass windows.

Admission to the tiny chapel was limited to holders of cards issued by members of the family.

The coffin in which Miss Guinan had lain in state since her body was brought back from Vancouver, B. C., was closed two hours before the services.

Members of the immediate family, including the father, two brothers and a sister, sat in the front pews. The Rev. J. McKenna, of St. Malachy's church, read prayers for the dead in Latin. Then came the American Legion ritual.

Heywood Brown, newspaper columnist, spoke briefly, his eyes moist with tears. Miss Guinan, he said, will live on because she will be kept in the hearts and the minds of all who knew her. It will be part of her immortality.

The casket, covered with flowers, was borne out to the hearse, along a narrow path cleared through the throngs outside. The family entered waiting automobiles, followed by the honorary pallbearers: Heywood Brown, Mark Hellinger, O. O. McIntyre, William Egan, Edward Sullivan, Louis Sobol, Paul Yawitz, Paul Whiteman and Earl Carroll.

Litvinoff Is Visitor At Mount Vernon

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(UP)—One of the fathers of the Russian revolution, Maxim M. Litvinoff, today paid homage to a famous American revolutionist, George Washington.

On the green slopes of Mount Vernon, Litvinoff stood bareheaded and reverential before Washington's tomb. He stopped there during a motor trip through Virginia and Maryland.

Members of Litvinoff's party explained that the soviet commissar always had cherished a high respect for Washington, whose revolt against autocracy in 1776 shocked the world fully as much as the communist revolt against czarism 140 years later.

COUNCIL TO STUDY U. S. FUND PLAN

Means To Be Sought To Expedite Application for Money.

City council, at a special meeting at 2 o'clock this afternoon, will study means of expediting Atlanta's application for federal funds with which to modernize the city's sewer system and construct a new police station.

Alderman Ed A. Gilliam, chairman of a special council committee which is trying to arrange for police station construction, will ask council to authorize the transfer of $588,000 in refunded Atlanta bonds, for which a market has not been found, to security for federal monies.

It is expected that resolutions urging the necessity for immediate improvement and extension of the city's sewer system will be submitted to council. Alderman Gilliam, who spent several days last week in Washington conferring with federal officials, plans to return to the capital this week, along with Hugh Couch, Alderman J. Sid Tiller and Comptroller B. Graham West.

Gilliam and the members of the special city committee plan to confer with Harry Hopkins, federal emergency relief administrator, and secretary of the civil works administration, which has a $400,000,000 fund from which it is expected the money to lay down sewer improvements would be forthcoming.

W. E. Mitchell, chairman of the citizens' advisory commission on public projects for Atlanta and Fulton county, and Ralph Pharr, acting Fulton county attorney, will represent the county at the Washington conferences.

Few Firms Seek Tariff Hikes Under NRA Embargo Power

British Fascists, Reds Clash in London

LONDON, Nov. 12.—(AP)—A free-for-all fight between British fascists and communists made a battleground out of Trafalgar Square today.

A Union Jack was pulled off a truck carrying black-shirted fascists and tumbled to pieces. Mounted police rode into the crowd to restore order.

Earlier in the day communists had marched to the German embassy with a petition presenting a petition protesting the Reichstag fire trial in Berlin. Police scattered them.

Then the Reds gathered underneath Lord Nelson's monument. The fight started when the truckload of black-shirts arrived. The truck was driven by a woman.

Death Toll of Wintry Weather Mounts to 11; Two Missing.

By the Associated Press.

A fresh dust and snow storm turned day into night in the northwest yesterday as other sections reported lessening of storms blamed for the death of at least 11 persons. Two others were reported missing.

Huge clouds of dust, whipped by a 40 to 60-mile gale, struck in South Dakota, darkening skies. The wind toppled trees and signs in that state and in Minnesota and disrupted telephone communication in some sections. Motorists were forced to turn on headlights and houses had to be illuminated during the storm.

Sioux Falls weather observers said the phenomenon was unprecedented in South Dakota, and at Pipestone, Minn., earth was whipped from fields by the lashing wind.

Daybreak ended the severe snow storm in the Rochester (N. Y.) area, which accounted for seven deaths. There was a foot of snow in the Adirondack area and lesser amounts over the state of New York, hampering traffic. Clear and cold weather followed New England's snow storm of Saturday night.

Two persons were reported to have been drowned at Leamington, Ont., when their automobile skidded off an icy pier and two duck hunters were missing on Lake St. Clair. Slippery streets added a traffic fatality in Detroit.

Ohio was thawing out after a cold snap and snow. Maryland had temperatures in the 40's with a colder forecast, and Louisville, Ky., saw a return of Indian summer and a doffing of topcoats.

Snow covered the ground in parts of Wisconsin and most of the mid-west reported moderate temperatures. The south reported generally fair weather and it was clear and bright in the southwest. Oklahoma City had a temperature of 77 degrees. It was a bit windy in the Rockies, but otherwise pleasant. Utah had light frosts.

In the far west Washington reported normal temperatures. Oregon was warm and sunny, and California basked in sunshine.

Moderate temperatures were reported in western Pennsylvania, where Saturday nearly 20 inches of snow forced postponement of the Thiel-Allegheny football game.

Los Angeles had a temperature of 92, the hottest November day since 1920. Some 20,000 persons scurried to beaches seeking relief from heat.

In New Hampshire, a youthful mountain climber, Rupert A. Marden, of Brookline, Mass., a student at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, died from exposure after he and a party of students were forced to spend the night near the summit of Mount Washington because of a snow storm.

ICKES ASKS TALMADGE TO SPEED ROAD WORK

Governor Talmadge said Sunday night that he had not yet received the letter from Secretary Ickes. He denied that there had been any unusual delay in the awarding of contracts and recalled that only last Tuesday a half million dollars' worth of contracts were awarded. There will be another letting a week from Tuesday, the governor said.

Agreeing with Ickes that contracts should be let as rapidly as possible, the governor said that the entire Georgia program had been approved by the federal highway engineers and that bids had been called for on a great portion of the work.

U. S. WILL MAKE FOUR-CENT LOANS ON OPTION COTTON

which the board acquired a large amount of cotton and wheat in its price-pegging efforts. The board had no means of limiting production.

When the government's cotton plow-up campaign was started farmers were offered two methods of payment.

One was a flat rental for the land taken out of cultivation with rate of 4 cents a pound of cotton. The second was a lower rental plus an option on government cotton equal to the amount of the estimated yield of the land put to the plow. The farmer obtaining an option was credited with having paid 6 cents a pound for it.

It was represented by the option eventually was sold at a figure above 6 cents, that margin would represent a profit to the farmer. More than half the farmers joining in the plan elected the combination option-rental method of payment, with the volume of options totaling more than 2,200,000 bales.

Delivery of the options has been withheld by farm officials who have nearly completed payment of $111,000,000 in cash rentals to farmers joining in their program. As a result of non-delivery, the farmers have had no opportunity to exercise them.

Under the new loan plan, expectations are that few will exercise their options. They can obtain a loan of 4 cents a pound while cotton is selling below 10 cents at market. Should cotton continue to sell below 10 cents, the farmer making a loan on his option would be realizing 4 cents a pound or the same amount as he would if he ordered his option cotton sold at 10 cents a pound and was able to get it.

It was reported tonight that the Reconstruction Corporation's tentative commitment of $37,000,000 was not sufficient, the commodity corporation would seek additional funds.

Reached before the president leaves for "arm springs."

Bullitt remarked that "a lot of work has to be done," and added: "The discussions might be compared to two bookworms beginning at opposite ends of a shelf—it takes them some time to get through."

Once more, however, it was indicated that no real obstacle to recognition had arisen and there was speculation as to whether the meeting tonight had been requested by Litvinoff on receipt of advice from Moscow.

The soviet commissar has been in constant communication with his government since his arrival here last Tuesday and it was presumed that he laid a full report before high soviet officials following the brief conversation with state department officials late yesterday.

Observers believed that developments which might follow the actual recognition were figuring prominently in the parleys here, among these the possibility of a tariff reciprocity treaty.

The meeting tonight apparently was on the spur of the moment, as earlier it had been indicated that the soviet commissar would not see the president again until tomorrow.

Litvinoff went to the White House following a dinner party given in his honor by Henry Morgenthau Jr., governor of the farm credit administration.

Limited Terms for Bishops Studied by Methodist Church

"Progressives" Expected To Dictate Far-Reaching Changes at General Conference in April.

By HUNT CLEMENT JR.

The spirit of adventure which has captivated the American people in the six months of a new and courageous national political administration is becoming articulate in the far-flung membership of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South.

Quietly, yet with a persistence that stamps the movement with the force of determined minds, progressive men and women in hundreds of congregations throughout the country are moving to send to the next general conference of the church at Jackson, Miss., in April, a majority group of delegates who will seek to accomplish a program which contemplates the following changes:

1. Reduction of the term of office of the bishop from life-tenure to a fixed term of years.

2. Serious discussion of the advisability of abolishing the office of presiding elder.

3. Establishment of a commission to study the equalization of preachers' salaries, with the purpose of taking from him who has much and giving to him who has little.

4. Abolition of three important boards of the church, consolidating the work under other boards and commissions, and a general tightening of the reins of administration, looking to permanent annual savings of thousands of dollars.

Conferences of the church in 21 states and seven foreign countries have been engaged for weeks, and are engaged now, in selecting the clerical and lay delegates who will meet in April to legislate for a membership which numbered 2,665,504 persons in 1932.

The North Georgia Conference will meet in Atlanta November 22, and the South Georgia Conference several days earlier. Reports from numbers of the conferences have been that younger men are being named to attend the general conference, men less experienced in general conference affairs than those who composed the governing body of the church in the last meeting in 1930. The fact that of the eight lay delegates named recently by one of the Tennessee conferences only two have attended a general conference is cited by some Methodist leaders as significant of a widespread "revolt" against a great deal that is traditional in the attitude toward church affairs.

Three Bishops to Retire. Three of the fifteen bishops of the church will be retired at the conclusion of the April meeting. Throughout the church membership deep interest, and concern as well, attaches to the influence these three men who are regarded generally as "conservatives," will exercise over a legislative body whose spirit, it is confidently expected, will be decidedly progressive.

The three bishops who will be retired, and the age of each shall have attained at the April meeting, are: Bishop Warren A. Candler, of Atlanta, bishop of South Carolina and Upper South Carolina; 76 years, 9 months;

Bishop Collins Denny, bishop of Mississippi and North Mississippi; 80 years; and, Bishop H. M. DuBose, bishop of Memphis, and of Tennessee; 75 years, 6-1/2 months.

One of the most prominent and widely known Methodist lay leaders was quoted Saturday as saying that if Bishop Candler, Denny and DuBose sought to impose their will on the general conference, a spirit of revolt would be translated into a program of radical legislation.

New Spirit Evident. "Several changes are inevitable," this leader said. "A new spirit is evident, in the board rooms of the big city churches and among the members who gather around great wood stoves in the country meeting houses. Call that spirit what one will, it is a resurgence of the will to win, a renewal of the spirit of the pioneer. It is a spirit which says 'the past is valuable only as it shows the way to a better future.'"

"Changes are inevitable, important changes, and many progressive leaders are hopeful that a progressive element will dominate the conference. A progressive leadership, granting concessions to new conditions and new needs grown out of those conditions, will be able to steer the conference toward accomplishment without disruption. If a conservative group seeks to dominate, to dictate, to stem the flood of new ideas and the willingness to adventure, the progressive consciousness will not be checked and the result, I greatly fear, will be a general conference with the root blown off."

Saving To Be Effected. Financial considerations, the pressure of economic conditions, undoubtedly will dictate the desire to consolidate activities of the church wherever possible. Normally, the confer-

Home Mishap Kills Successful Hunter

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(UP)—Returning safely from a three-day hunting trip, Anthony Marza, 27, Brooklyn laundry wagon driver, accidentally shot himself to death with the last shell in his shotgun today as he entered the living room of his home.

Marza's arms were loaded with squab, quail and partridge, the bag of his hunt in New Jersey, as he entered the house. The shotgun, which he also carried in his arms, was discharged suddenly and he died from a wound over the heart.

He would elect three bishops to take the places of the three who will be retired. At this time, however, it is expected that the conference will be asked to redistrict the 15 episcopacies into 12, and give to the 12 bishops a little more territory.

The salary of the bishop is $8,000 a year, with a maximum of $1,500 for house rent and clerical help, and $500 for traveling expenses. A saving of $24,000 annually would be effected if the three bishops were not replaced.

In the matter of consolidating existing boards, various conferences already have memorialized the general conference on the subject.

It is predicted that the board of lay activities, the general hospital board, of which Dr. C. C. Jarrell, of Atlanta, is secretary, and the board of church extension, will be abolished and the work given over to other boards. A minimum saving of $20,000 annually would be effected if salaries and office rent without impairing the possibilities of accomplishment in the work, so the sponsors of the program believe.

Financial matters have no part in the consideration of eliminating the life-tenure of the bishops, or in the discussion of abolishing the office of presiding elder. In the wish to equalize the salaries of preachers, the underlying thought is one of social betterment, rather than a saving of dollars.

Set Term for Bishops. The move to limit the bishop to a fixed term of years has its beginning in the belief that the church may not be best served by a college of bishops retired into a holy of holies, so to speak, withdrawn from the problems and challenges and concerns of the preacher and pastor and congregation. Methodists are asking themselves whether it would be best to elect a bishop for four years, make it possible for him to be re-elected, and decree that he return to the work as pastor; or, to elect a bishop for a term of six years and limit him to the one term.

Any limit imposed on the term of office by the next conference would not apply to present bishops, but the widespread is the discussion of the move that one of the younger bishops

In Georgia's Fields and Streams

BLUE CRABS.

For the benefit of those of you who didn't get to the seafood exhibit during last week I am offering a few of the species of animals that were on display there as the subjects for the next three or four articles. If you saw them, you can skip this column today or so. If you didn't, skipping it is still your privilege.

At any rate, I certainly enjoyed renewing a close acquaintance with the blue crab, Callinectes sapidus, the book people call him, is an amusing fellow. He seems to be reticent by nature; possibly because he peers at the watery world from beneath a pleasant contour of an animal with a real personality. Regardless of his outrageous appearance, the blue crab is a lovable beast.

A famous marine zoologist commonly refers to a crab as a "sea-living spicer." The terrestrial, air-breathing arachnids are very much the same in structure as the crab. The lobster, crayfish, and prawn, or shrimp, are all placed with the crab in the class known as Crustacea. One friend of mine last week asked what had become of the long tail that the other crustaceans have. I showed him. The tail of the crab has become reduced to its lowest terms, folded under, and occupies a well-fitting groove on the underside of the animal. In the earlier stages of life history of the crab, there is a definite tail, but during growth and through successive moults, the tail suffers atrophy and finally retires into its groove, no longer to bother the animal by getting in its way.

Lovers of the color blue will find great satisfaction in viewing the claws of Callinectes. They are a pure shade of that color, and in some specimens, there is a bit of red pigment added along the inner edge of the claws that makes a shade of purple rarely ever seen in nature. I know people that contend that the eggplant is not fit to be eaten because of its color. Purple is unnatural, they declare. I can only say that the entire appearance of the crab is unnatural, and that the purple can add nothing of consequence in this direction.

Here's to blue crabs! May their charming resemblance to people last seas. And you who are enthusiastic aquarium fans will do well to start salt-water tanks to house a few crabs for observation this winter.

ABIT NIX IS SPEAKER AT HOSPITAL NO. 48

"Preparedness, in Time of Peace," was the subject of the address by Abit Nix, as principal speaker on the Armistice program Sunday afternoon at Hospital No. 48.

Miss Sarah Sinko and Minna Hauffman, radio stars of WGST, supplied the musical part of the program. The speakers were introduced by George Coe.

It is not expected that the conference will abolish the office of presiding elder. The move is regarded as too great a swallow to take at one time, even for the most earnest of progressives. On the other hand, the Armistice program Sunday afternoon at Hospital No. 48.

Lindbergh Seaplane Is Battered by Storm

SANTONA, Spain, Nov. 12.—(F)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh said today heavy seas and a strong gale would keep him and Mrs. Lindbergh from continuing to Portugal before Monday.

Huge waves that lashed his seaplane during the night caused the flyer to leave bed at 2 a. m. and have the craft fastened with new ropes to keep it from being blown off-shore.

After breakfast Lindbergh again hurried to the waterfront to inspect the mooring of the plane. Bad weather brought the couple down here yesterday, ending a difficult flight from Geneva. Lindbergh said he would leave at 11 a. m. tomorrow if air conditions are favorable.

Golden is charged with having been one of four persons who broke open the hotel safe and escaped with $50,000 worth of jewelry and postoffice money orders.

ATLANTA, GA., NOV. 13, 1933.

FORESEEING HITLER'S FALL

Reports from Switzerland, where thousands of German political refugees—men formerly high in governmental, industrial and professional positions—are now living, tell of a prevalent conviction that another change of revolutionary magnitude is in the making in Germany.

Among these emigres are a dozen or so former cabinet ministers, the editors of practically all the former liberal newspapers, and hundreds of ex-members of the national and state diets. Living just across the border, they keep in intimate touch with conditions in Germany. They all declare the downfall of the Hitler regime is not far distant.

Despite the overwhelming "indorsement" given the Hitler policies in the one-party "election" Sunday, they say Germany is dissatisfied and point to the thousands of votes against the nazis as evidence that Germans are willing to sacrifice and endure even for a gesture that is at best idle just now.

The growing dissatisfaction is reported to lie with big business, growing more and more discontented with Hitler.

Hitler's program includes socialization of a large number of enterprises; large scale appropriations of land, and other measures which frighten the agrarian landlords and the business magnates.

Dr. Ley, head of the Nazi labor syndicate, has declared that the day is not far distant when Germany will no longer be divided in two classes of employers and employees, but that every citizen will be "synchronized in the totalitarian state." This statement has disquieted the big businessmen because Dr. Ley is taken to be the chancellor's personal spokesman.

Hitler is supported by the left wing, the most powerful group of the Nazi movement, while Dr. Goering heads the opposing factions, composed of former followers of Dr. Hugenberg, the nobility, big business and also of President Hindenburg's immediate entourage.

On several occasions Goering has been in sharp conflict with Hitler, although little of the contest that is going on behind the scenes reaches the public.

Hitler's program is tantamount to the socialization of big business and a division of the big Junker estates. Such measures Goering opposes and with him naturally stand the powerful business interests.

OUR DIET TO CHANGE

Radical changes in the diet of the average American is predicted for the future by Dr. William A. Taylor, chief of the United States bureau of plant industry, as the result of the "invention" of new food plants during the past quarter of a century and the hopeful outlook of additional species in future.

Agricultural scientists have been encouraged to redoubled efforts to produce not only improved foods and fruits, but entirely new species, since the new federal patent law went into effect in 1930. Formerly there was no protection for the man developing a new plant, but under the new law patents are granted for "new and distinct varieties of plants which have been asexually reproduced."

Such an achievement in the past meant little in the way of financial reward to the successful plant scientist. Since now he can expect to profit from the fruits of his labor, it is only natural that a marked increase has been noted since the enactment of the patent law in the number of plant experiments being conducted.

During the past two years new and finer varieties of plums, peaches, cherries, strawberries, grapes, dewberries, pecans and mushrooms have been patented. In addition, large numbers of flowers of various kinds have been registered.

It is reported by Dr. Taylor that plant breeders are now largely con-

Fall of French Government

Monsieur Daladier's government has been defeated. In proposing next year's budget he had included six billion francs economies. This was necessary to cover the deficit. Two billion of these economies had to come from a reduction of the salaries of state employees and from a reduction in the pensions of ex-soldiers.

The socialists with 120 members in parliament, deserted M. Daladier on this issue and he came to a fall. The socialists namely represent exactly the class of state functionaries and the ex-soldiers whose income it was proposed to reduce. They had to be loyal to their clients, so to speak. But here you have exactly one of the drawbacks of parliamentary government.

The socialists thought only of their own backers. They did not think of France. For France certainly needs a balanced budget and if economies cannot be realized one way or another, recourse must be had to inflation.

No inflation is a terrible thing. Millions of Frenchmen live from small incomes, the result of years and years of arduous saving and scraping. If their funds suddenly deteriorate, these people are ruined. The franc depreciated three-thirds of its value in 1926 and ruined millions. Further devaluation would mean a catastrophe. M. Daladier had his choice, either inflate or reduce pensions and salaries. He chose the latter, because he was doing so to spare his own followers, the people with small incomes, but he struck at the followers of the socialists. It was a fight of class against class.

Parliamentary government in France means class government. What France needs is an administration which shall stand above class interests and regulate the affairs of the nation in a national sense.

Silence Is Golden

Henry Ford, says James J. Montague, is the one man who can attract increasing attention by saying nothing. There is an element of tragedy in this. It implies that people expect Mr. Ford to say something, that they expect a message, a sign, a word of encouragement. It may safely be said that if Mr. Ford is silent amid the universal hubbub, he does not do so to astonish or to intrigue or to work up expectations. The most sensible explanation would seem to be that he really has nothing to say.

Silence is golden, said the old proverb—yes, and especially so when half the world has gone off the gold standard.

Freedom of the Press

The bones of Tom Paine, Henry Grady, Bran, Jean Jacques and Voltaire must have been stirring in their graves the other day when the Tallawassie Tribune wrote: "No bureaucratic appointee—can, with authority, tell any newspaper editor, from the biggest daily paper down to the smallest weekly paper, that which he can say and that which he cannot say."

To which the Montgomery Advertiser assented with these words: "There is not a respectable newspaper in this country which would not applaud its (the Tribune's) declaration of principle and purpose."

The last refuge of human dignity in this country is the principle that human conscience must be free. Many French papers commented on this statement.

Health Talks

BY DR. WILLIAM BRADY

APPLE DIET FOR INTESTINAL TROUBLE

As a health teacher I deserve great credit for rarely if ever insisting that any one should take spinach, mashed potatoes, custard or apple pie. Perhaps I should omit the last. I don't like apples, and I don't believe they do any harm if any one should happen to like 'em to eat. But I tell the world that here is one doctor who can keep away or drive away with any kind of apples, unless the cookies you serve with 'em are capital.

Apple pie, that's different, especially if you serve a schooner of foaming raw milk with it, fresh from the cow, or at any rate raw—none of your parboiled or pasteurized stuff, if you please.

Physicians in Germany have recently discovered or rediscovered that apple sauce is a fine remedy for intestinal disorders in infants and in adults. Raw applesauce, it must be, a grated pulp of ripe, peeled, raw apples.

For the young nursing infant, if fresh apples are not available, Dr. Elizabeth Urban has found that pure apple powder satisfies. This is prepared much as banana powder and milk powder is made in this country, by the vacuum drying process, and by at any rate the younger infants as an addition to the bottle, by putting a tablespoonful in the bottle morning and afternoon, or a teaspoonful in each bottle of food prepared for the baby.

Raw apple appears to be beneficial in acute and chronic nutritional disturbances, intestinal infections and intoxications. The apple powder had to be given only for two or three days to show its beneficial effects.

Apple diet is equally beneficial in alimentary troubles in adults. It has proved remarkably corrective in many cases of diarrhea, acute gastro-enteritis, acute enteritis, colic, cholera, even paratyphoid. It promptly arrests

News Behind the News

By Paul Mallon.

SMILING WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—Inquisitive people want to know how Mr. Roosevelt is taking the hisses against some sections of his program.

The answer is: Just about the same as he took the Hosannas. Once, about 10 days ago, when the farm strike was threatening and the gold price scheme was not working, he had a bad day. Callers thought that for the first time since March 4 he was unable to conceal his irritation. He was sharp in conversation. His habitual gaiety was conspicuously absent.

The very next day he came up smiling again. He has been that way ever since.

This is not merely a public pose. He carries it through his dealings with his intimate associates in private.

It seems to be a game with him, a constant resistance against permitting anything to get on his nerves. He knows that he must have relaxation and good health and he never lets anything interfere with these two purposes.

At present his physical condition seems to be good.

From the inside comes an estimate that the home loan mortgage outfit has handled to date only about 8 per cent of its relief problem.

That does not fit in with some of the extravagant claims which have been published but there are good reasons for believing it is accurate.

It might cause some worry, except that the machinery now is functioning better. The change in chairmanship was in the interest of efficiency. Too much politics was originally involved.

When you compare its record with the average insurance company doing the same business, the government operation stands in a favorable light.

No insurance company was ever efficient enough to handle 25 loans a day. The government is handling that many now and will handle more shortly. Its business is much more complicated than that of life insurance companies because it must swap bonds for mortgages instead of cash.

The cost of operations is much higher for the government than for private companies. No one knows exactly how much higher.

NOT WORKERS

BY PAUL MALLON

Map Plans for Drive Opening Tomorrow

The importance of every Community Chest worker attending the campaign rally at the Atlanta Athletic Club Monday night was stressed Sunday night by Herbert Porter, general chairman of the annual drive, which opens Tuesday.

The meeting will begin with a dinner to be served promptly at 6 o'clock. Starting at 8:30 p.m. the program of interest to the general public will be broadcast simultaneously over all three local radio stations. It is expected that the meeting will be concluded by 8 o'clock or shortly thereafter.

Admission to the meeting will be by ticket only. Emphasis was placed on the fact that no tickets will be given out after 12 o'clock noon Monday. Chairman Porter has charged every team captain with the responsibility of seeing that each of his workers is provided with a ticket. Any worker who may have been inadvertently overlooked should immediately communicate with his captain.

"This meeting is so important," said Mr. Porter, "that it could almost be said essential that everyone who is going to be in the field this week attend it. It is the only place where every worker will be fully informed as to conditions existing today. This is the only opportunity left before the campaign begins to provide the workers with information everyone who does his job right ought to have."

It was declared that the fact many of the workers have served in previous Community Chest campaigns does not qualify them for the campaign this year. It was stated that conditions today are so far more serious than ever before and every volunteer should welcome this opportunity to secure full facts.

Acute Situation Reported.

"Never before," it was stated, "has human suffering in Atlanta been so acute and so widespread. It is appalling when you stop to consider the fact that there are 60,000 homeless in Atlanta. On the one hand, there is this campaign for food, clothing and shelter."

"It is hard for those who enjoy the ordinary comforts of life to realize that right here in Atlanta human beings are facing actual starvation. Conditions have been bad enough heretofore, but never so terrible as now when one out of every five are helpless."

"Not only should all workers attend the Monday night meeting to get full facts about existing conditions but they also should become thoroughly familiar with the work the Community Chest is doing; should be prepared to give full and complete information about Chest activities to all whom they ask for subscriptions."

"No one who knows the great work the Chest is doing could fail to want to give and give generously. Even if the humanitarian angle were not considered for the moment there would be dozens of sound reasons why it is good business for those who own property in Atlanta to attend to their business and bring up their families here, should support the Community Chest."

Picture To Be Shown

One particularly interesting and instructive feature of the Monday night meeting will be the advance showing of the Community Chest motion picture which has just been completed by the Atlanta Industrial Council. The picture is about 15 minutes long and will be shown in leading Atlanta theaters this week. By means of the picture actual workings of the Community Chest will be portrayed.

Community singing will be a feature of the program. Through the courtesy of the Atlanta Federation of Musicians music will be furnished by the Atlanta Community Orchestra. There will be solos by Mrs. Trumie Johnson and also several numbers by the First Christian church quartet.

The principal speaker of the evening will be Rev. Dr. Herman L. Turner, chairman of the Community Chest speakers' bureau. Dr. Turner has a message of unusual importance to all workers and of interest to the general public as well. The address will be broadcast over the three-station hookup of WSB, WGST and WFTL.

Particular interest centers in the reports of the advance gifts workers. The result of the canvass they have conducted during the past week will be announced at the meeting.

The advance gifts workers will conduct an intensive canvass Monday in efforts to call on as many as possible of those whom it was impossible to see during the past week.

At the meeting Monday night every detail preparatory to launching the annual general drive on Tuesday will be covered. Marching orders for the 2,500 workers for a canvass that will undertake to reach every individual who is financially able to make a contribution, large or small. Subsequent cards will be given out with the declaration that "one out of five will starve unless you help."

Divisions of Workers Formed.

While the campaign has been broken up into dozens of teams, each charged with specific duties. As the campaign progresses daily reports will be made. Beginning Wednesday at 12:30 o'clock daily luncheons will be held at the Atlanta Athletic Club to receive and compile returns from the various divisions.

In addition, to newspaper reports of the progress of the campaign there will be a giant "thermometer" at Five Points to record the results of each day's canvass. From the top of where the "thermometer" announces that 60,000 will starve, the "mercury" will rise in proportion to the progress of the campaign which will be measured in the number still facing starvation instead of in dollars. When the "mercury" reaches the topmost point the success of the drive will be proclaimed and the announcement that "none will starve."

The attentiveness of human need in Atlanta will be forcefully driven home during the week by means of a series of dramatic radio broadcasts. Each sketch is to be a masterpiece of realism, revealing conditions as they actually exist to be as intensely dramatic as the human situation. Hours and dates of these broadcasts will be announced later.

Throughout the city Sunday ministers called attention of their congregations to the Community Chest drive. Regardless of denomination or creed thorough co-operation and generous giving were urged.

Not only is it known that they were bought by Sklar and Patis, which Mrs. Keely owned in the Marietta store where they were found.

The heavy gold jewelry set with garnet and pearls, which Mrs. Keely wore in the portrait, was left to her namesake, Ella Mae Thornton, but they, too, disappeared, having been stolen some years ago. But now their painted brilliance will remain secure on the canvass, and the portraits of Captain Keely and his lady will be safe in the keeping of their loved ones.

HOLLYWOOD IN PERSON

BY MOLLIE MERRICK.

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Nov. 12.—We've gone geographic in our fashions. We may go to the Tyrol, the Russian steppes, the north of Africa or the French army.

The green Tyrolean hat, the Russian lion turban, the African kpee and the blue devil tams are all to be seen atop the heads of moviemakers.

When Joan Crawford departed this coast for a vacation in New York, a blue devil tam of blackest velvet topped her traveling suit. It is far larger than most of the tam's we've been wearing—in fact we've been wearing berets, to be precise—and it is worn quite high in the back, which means that the hair should be slightly long beneath it.

Kay Francis, in the manners of the Tyrol, is one of the smartest sights a girl could see these days. Atop her black hair is a green mountain's hat of velvet. A zippy feathery crown, a crown of a crown. A ridiculous, gay feather with something mad in its slant and complete abandon in the entire effect.

The abandon is to outdoor things. The coat which goes with it is of green suede with pockets—four of them—on the front of it. It is hip length and heaven help the fat girl who tries to wear it. It was designed for a tall, frail willow-wand like Francis. The suit beneath is of Tyrolean green, Angora wool. Its blouse is all shadow-pleated in brown and the brogues which make the finishing touch are of soft dark brown.

Miriam Hopkins is the robin red-breast of Hollywood this season by reason of a black, crepe Moroccan suit whose shirtings are of fashion of brilliant red crepe with tailored collar and long sleeves. A coat, knee length and fitted at the waistline, has cartridge tucked into the shoulders. The front of the coat has a subtle edge. A huge clip of brilliant is worn at the high red neckline. And the Hopkins looks for all the world like a robin splashed with dew.

W. C. T. U. Head Sees Return Of Prohibition in Near Future

EVANSTON, Ill., Nov. 12.—(AP)—Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith, recently elected head of the W. C. T. U., today declared that prohibition will return—possibly within two generations.

In her first interview since the eighteenth amendment was annulled by the states, Mrs. Smith, a motherly person, forecast that the 21st amendment was doomed to be supplanted.

"I may live to see it," she said. "But eventually there will be a new amendment to the constitution repealing the 21st amendment. Possibly this younger generation will see it. If not, the next will."

She made her statement as she and five other national officers of the organization that for 60 years has fought for abolition of the saloon met.

VOTES CAST AT SEA

BY GERMAN SUBJECTS

CIVITAVECCHIA, Italy, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Nine hundred German residents of Italy cast their votes in the Reichstag election in Duisburg, just outside the three-mile territorial limit today.

A special train from Rome brought 450 German subjects. After the voting, the liner, which made a special call here en route from the far east, related them here and they returned to their homes.

LIMA, Peru, Nov. 12.—(AP)—A 90 cent vote for the Nazi Reichstag candidates and almost unanimous support of Hitler's foreign policies were the results of the 394 German residents here who voted aboard a German vessel on the high seas.

Frank R. Holly Jr., southern sales manager of the Virginia Trunk & Bag company, of Petersburg, Va., died suddenly Sunday afternoon of a heart attack at his residence at 2285 East Lake road. Shortly after he and his wife returned to the home from a walk Mr. Holly collapsed and died.

Mr. Holly, who was about 55 years of age, had been in Atlanta for several years. He was the son of Dr. Frank R. Holly, widely known Brooklyn surgeon.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by Atway & Lowndes.

NEW CLUES ARE CHECKED IN ABDUCTION OF YOUTH

SAN JOSE, Cal., Nov. 12.—(AP)—While members of the family of Brooke Hart, missing 22-year-old son of a wealthy store owner, persisted in their demand that he be rescued further word from the supposed kidnappers of the youth, Chief of Police J. N. Black today was busy checking new clues.

He sought information regarding "Handsome Jack" Klutas, middle-aged police character wanted for kidnaping. Chicago authorities notified Black that Klutas was reported to have been in central California recently.

An airplane circling over the Mount Diablo range east of here, where young Hart often rode horseback, gave rise to rumors that the Hart family had commissioned the pilot to scan the mountain district for signs of the missing son.

Reports that Hart, who has been missing since Thursday, might have eloped or planned to elope, were discounted by Chief Black. He said a careful check of Hart's financial affairs disclosed he had drawn no money from his bank account nor had he obtained funds elsewhere.

He considered it wholly unlikely that one used to comfort and liberal spending would have disappeared with no funds.

Sheriff's officers of Marin county started an intensive search of that part of the state after three women from San Jose, Cal., furnished photographs of the youth as resembling a young man who inquired the way to the business section of the town at 2:30 p. m. and 3 p. m. last Friday.

TURKEY MEN TO HEAR TALKS AT BRASELTON

BRASELTON, Ga., Nov. 12.—Leading poultry specialists of the Georgia Agricultural College and the extension division will address a turkey field meeting at the Lott turkey farm and nursery here Thursday afternoon.

The farm has a flock of over 2,000 turkeys.

This year's turkey crop is estimated to be between 10 to 15 per cent lower than last year's and storage withdrawals have been exceptionally heavy this year.

FERTILIZER GROUP WILL MEET TODAY

Recovery Committee To Hold First Session of 3- Day Conference.

The ninth annual southern convention of the National Fertilizer Association, Incorporated, which will be in session for three days at the Hotel Biltmore, will be convened this morning at 10 o'clock with a meeting of the fertilizer recovery committee.

Charles J. Brand, executive secretary and treasurer, in predicting the largest attendance in years, said the fertilizer industry was intensely interested in a code which became effective November 10. The fertilizer recovery committee, which is the authority for the industry, will hold morning and afternoon sessions today. The board of directors will meet tonight and Tuesday the convention proper will get under way.

More than 300 executives and members from all over the country are expected to attend the meeting. John J. Watson, president of the association and of the International Agricultural Corporation, of New York city, will deliver the opening address. Charles J. Brand will discuss "The Evolution of the Code and Fair Competition for the Fertilizer Industry." Following these addresses the conference will resolve itself into a code conference to discuss the definitions of terms used in the code and the labor provisions.

The annual subscription dinner of the fertilizer industry will be held Tuesday evening at the Biltmore, at 8 o'clock. LaFayette L. Patterson, special representative of the agricultural adjustment administration, and former member of congress from Alabama, will be the principal speaker, on the topic, "The Cotton-Adjustment Program." Austrian Anniversary Marked by Disorder

VIENNA, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Prepared to cope with serious disorders on the fifteenth anniversary of the Austrian republic, police and heimwehrmen arrested hundreds of socialists in various sections of Austria today, but no grave trouble developed.

Two hundred twenty-five socialists were arrested in Vienna alone for attempted demonstrations. Many were clubbed.

Among persons subjected to police treatment was Hugo Thaler, socialist vice president of the lower Austrian diet, who was taken to a hospital after a beating with batons.

The daytime disturbances in Vienna however, were scattered and desultory. Peace generally reigned in the inner city. Although the military garrison was augmented in preparation for emergencies, the soldiers were kept within barracks.

Adler, a son of Victor Adler, father of Austrian socialism, came to Vienna yesterday from Zurich to observe the fifteenth anniversary of his father's death, and with others participated in the socialist demonstration in the Favoriten district, his father's old constituency. The demonstration was dispersed by the police.

CAPITAL OF GOTHES IS BELIEVED FOUND BY ARCHAEOLOGISTS

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Digging on the Crimean peninsula near historic Sebastopol, a joint American and Russian archaeological expedition has unearthed approximately 3,500 objects on the site of what is believed to have been the ancient city of Duros, capital of the Goths. Announcement of the discoveries was made today by Horace H. F. Jayne, director of the University of Pennsylvania museum, which is co-operating with the Academy for the History of the Material Culture, Leningrad.

During the two months of work just completed the expedition excavated 60 burials in catacombs, mounds and stone cists, Jayne said. The relics found there and 100 skulls, prized for anthropological study, are being sent to the museum.

All the material was unearthed at Eske-Kermen, one of the so-called "cave cities" in Crimea. Many of the objects ranging in age from 1,500 to nearly 3,500 years, are of excellent design, Jayne was informed. They include jewelry, pottery, coins and architectural fragments.

ATLANTA NEGRO SHOT IN RAID BY POLICE

Joe Kendrick, negro, of 317 Hilliard street, was wounded in the leg early Sunday morning as police raided the house of Charley Bell, negro, at 242 Dunlap street.

More than half a dozen officers surrounded the house, where they had reason to believe a crap game was in progress. At their knock a number of negroes attempted to flee from the residence and two or three shots were fired by several of the officers. Kendrick was found on the back porch of an adjoining house with a leg broken by a bullet. He was admitted to Grady hospital.

Police arrested Charley Bell, who claimed a small quantity of whisky which was found on the premises.

Iceland Wet Again As Prohi Law Dies

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Nov. 12.—(UP)—Iceland went "wet" again today after 18 years of prohibition.

The official results of the national prohibition referendum taken October showed that 15,884 favored repeal and 11,624 voted against it.

Four out of six towns voted wet, while 9 out of 11 rural districts voted dry, some by a narrow majority.

Despite the official announcement, however, it was doubted that liquor would be imported into the island for some time, at least until new import and sales regulations are formulated.

The parliament is in session, which may speed up these moves.

A system modeled on the Swedish or Canadian plans is probable.

Iceland went dry in 1909, when the althing passed the prohibition law, but the law was not entirely effective until 1915. The six-year interim was permitted to allow sale of existing stocks.

NATIONAL ANTHEM INCENTIVE TO WAR, MUSICIAN ASSERTS

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(UP)—National anthems, including "The Star-Spangled Banner," are teaching men of the world to kill and destroy each other, and therefore should be abolished, Dr. Arthur Cremin, director of the New York Schools of Music, tonight told the American Creative League of Music Students.

"The world today," said Dr. Cremin, "is under the influence of a type of music, military and sexual, which menaces the harmony of millions of individuals and the peace of nations."

"The whole world today is ready to kill and destroy under the influence of military music. Any music that inspires feelings for intense nationalism, feelings of possession and boundaries like the American 'Star-Spangled Banner,' the French 'Marseillaise,' the English 'God Save the King' and the Italian royal march, must be condemned."

Dr. Cremin suggested that instead of the many national anthems one international anthem be written, by a group of international composers, to be sung in every country on state occasions.

POPE DENOUNCES FEMININE INTEREST IN BOXING MATCHES

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 12.—(AP)—A speech interpreted by church officials as criticizing the attendance of women at boxing matches was made by Pope Pius today, mentioning the tendency shown by many modern women to "admire spectacles of brutal violence."

The speech was made during a ceremony clearing the way for canonization of Luisa De Marillac, co-founder of the Society of the Daughters of Charity. The pope compared her gentle character with tendencies among modern women.

These tendencies, he said, were "not in keeping with the sentiments of human dignity and purity instilled by Christian teachings."

At boxing exhibitions, he added, it is not possible to preserve "the dignity and grace peculiar to women."

The large attendance of women at the Carnero-Uzcudun fight at Rome October 22 was believed to have prompted the pope's remarks.

Today's ceremony consisted of reading a tuto or final decree to the canonization of Luisa De Marillac, which is scheduled immediately after the holy year. Decrees also read approving the miracles necessary to proceed with the canonization of Mario Micola, founder of the Sisters' Worship and Service of the Holy Sacrament and Pompilio Maria Pirrotti, an Italian friar of the holy school order, who died in 1770.

ANTHRACITE MINERS VOTE TO RESUME WORK

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Nov. 12.—(UP)—A strike of 40,000 anthracite miners ended here tonight. Five hundred delegates at a special convention of the newly-organized United Anthracite Miners of Pennsylvania voted unanimously to resume work tomorrow morning at all collieries in the Luzerne-Lackawanna district.

Settlement of the strike was voted at a three-hour meeting after Senator Robert Wagner head of the labor board at Washington, had sent a message to the delegates promising appointment of a government commission to investigate complaints of improper working conditions in mines here.

PERIOD IS ADDED TO BARRON CLINIC

Following the announcement in The Constitution three weeks ago of a free clinic each Tuesday morning for patients suffering from neuritis, arthritis, foot trouble and similar ailments at Dr. Barron's health clinic, comes an additional announcement that "due to the great response to this free clinic, it has been necessary to have an additional free clinic period."

The original time of 9 to 10 each Tuesday morning will remain, however, and an extra hour will be added from 5 to 6 o'clock each Tuesday. By increasing this free clinic hour to two hours, those employed will have an opportunity to take advantage of the afternoon free clinic hours. Dr. Barron's health clinic is located at 28 Peachtree avenue. Office hours for regular patients will remain the same.

Fifth Day's Prize Winners Named In Marie Dressler Poetry Contest

The wall clock ticks on, reminding us that only two more days remain of The Constitution's poetry contest, now that the fifth day has passed with Mrs. F. B. Sumner, of Moreland, Ga., as the winner of first prize for the day's best poem in tribute to Marie Dressler, star of stage and screen, who has just passed her sixty-second birthday.

The second best poem of the day was sent in by Margaret Druff, of Route 2, Decatur. The first prize is $2.50, which will be sent in the mail by Loew's Grand theater on behalf of The Constitution, and the second prize is a pair of tickets to the Grand for "Christopher Bean," Miss Dressler's new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, which opens November 17 at the Grand.

Many beautiful thoughts are contained in the delightful poems received by The Constitution, and the cream of the lot will be selected to be sent to Miss Dressler as Atlanta's appreciation of her gift to the screen. The best Atlanta poem will be entered in the national contest, for which Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer offers a prize of $250.

The first and second prizes are the same for each day of the seven of the contest, $2.50 for the best poem and a pair of tickets for the second best.

There are no strict requirements as to the form of poem to be submitted, except that it must be a birthday tribute to Miss Dressler and it must not exceed 15 lines.

Sunday's best poem follows:

A PLANTATION GREETING.
"Mawin," Miss Dressler,
How does yer do,
How air yer feelin'?

To be sixty-two?
Blessin' on yer honey,
And may yer allies be
A-thrillin' us and fillin' us
With joy, and may yer see
How the world's a-jivin' at yer.

And a needin' of yer, too,
So just keep a-bein' Dressler
As yer air at sixty-two!

HIGH COUNTY TAX CHARGED TO STATE

Tate Wright Asserts Counties Assuming Functions of State.

ATHENS, Ga., Nov. 12.—“The counties of Georgia are performing the state's governmental functions to a large extent, and as long as this continues, high tax rates must of necessity be levied by the counties.”

This statement was made today by Tate Wright, secretary of the Georgia Association of County Commissioners, after several months study of the relation of county government to state government, and what the counties are spending to perform functions which the state should be performing.

Mr. Wright, who has been clerk and attorney for the Clarke county commissioners for 20 years, declared that the counties and other subdivisions of Georgia have saddled themselves with state functions, running up a bonded indebtedness of $82,775,000.49, while the state itself sails blithely along with a bonded debt of less than $5,000,000.

The counties are not only under heavy bonded debt to build state roads, but they are carrying on the functions of the state, to a large extent, in education, health and sanitation, hospitals, care of convicts, lunatics, and aid to charities. He said that the state of Georgia is spending only a small percentage of what the other states are spending on state governmental functions, while the counties are shouldering the burden and staggering under its weight.

Pecan Growers Fret As Nut Thefts Mount

VALDOSTA, Ga., Nov. 12.—Owners of pecan groves in this section are now beset by the usual wholesale thefts of nuts. Many of the groves are remote from dwellings, which necessitates the employment of watchmen to look after the yield until the nuts can be picked.

A number of thefts are reported, some growers after catching the guilty ones, permit them to go after a lecture, although during the harvesting season the value of nuts stolen in this section runs into a very neat sum of money.

Georgia Milk Pact Nearing Completion

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Georgia's milk marketing agreement is receiving finishing touches preparatory to final approval by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, it was said here today.

Under policy of the agricultural adjustment administration no word is given as to various steps by which agreements are perfected, but indications were that the milk pact would be approved, probably early this week.

The agreement fixes prices to producers and distributors and limits the price that may be charged consumers.

It also provides for the regulation of milk, and aid to charities. He said that the state of Georgia is spending only a small percentage of what the other states are spending on state governmental functions, while the counties are shouldering the burden and staggering under its weight.

EMORY CLUB TO SING AT METHODIST MEET

VALDOSTA, Ga., Nov. 12.—The annual South Georgia conference of the Methodist church, which convenes in Brunswick, Wednesday, November 15, will be a busy day of staid and serious-minded men both of the clergy and laity, but nevertheless that body likes entertainment.

The glee club, which is under the direction of James Dasher, of Valdosta, appeared before the conference when it met in Albany last November and rendered such an excellent program that a resolution was adopted inviting the club to appear on the Brunswick program.

In addition to the glee club, John Elbert Wilson, a former student of Emory Junior and Emory Senior, and now a member of Emory Junior faculty, will render vocal solos Saturday evening and Sunday morning at the Brunswick meeting.

Tardy Reports Show Business Advances

TENNILLE, Ga., Nov. 12.—The tide has turned, and business is on the upgrade with prospects of a gradual, continued increase. Every business house flies the Blue Eagle; trade is brisk, merchants more optimistic and although easy times are not here, yet, still the dawn of prosperity assumes aspect of something real, not a mirage, because the specter of depression has been vanquished.

Due to the influx of federal money from the 10-cent loans on cotton, and the cash payments for plowed up acreage, many farmers have been able to pay their debts and taxes long past due.

The 1933 cotton crop is listed at 13,297 bales, and of these over 4,000 have been turned over to the government through the three agencies in the county. Checks amounting to $163,125.50 have been distributed to farmers who participated in the plowed up cotton campaign, and some checks are yet to arrive. Through county relief administration, hundreds of unemployed have been given work, the men through road and drainage projects in the 21 districts and the women through serving projects in ten communities.

Through this administration many parents have been enabled to secure books and tuition to put their children in school, and from this same source plans are under way to help relieve the overcrowded condition of schools by employing supply teachers.

WARM SPRINGS STAGES LANDING FIELD FETE

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., Nov. 12.—Celebrating the first anniversary of the Meriwether aircraft organization an air show was staged here Sunday at the local airport.

The transport company has been grooming the field for several months in preparation for the landing of giant transport ships that are expected to land and takeoff from the airport during the visit here of President Roosevelt the latter part of this week.

Pilots that took part in the air show included Paul Davis, brother of Doug Davis; "Boss" Davis, an officer in the air reserve corps, stationed at Candler field, and "Gene" Jones, local pilot in charge of the airport here, and a graduate of Parks Air College, St. Louis.

States represented were Wisconsin, Minnesota, South Dakota, Nebraska and Iowa.

MISSOURI VALLEY, Iowa, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Milo Reno, president of the National Farm Holiday Association sponsoring the farm strike, assailed Secretary of Agriculture Wallace and the administration farm program in a speech today at a holiday meeting here.

$20,000,000 in Meat Saved as Pickets Yield

AUSTIN, Minn., Nov. 12.—(UP)—Strike pickets surrendered control of the George A. Hormel Company packing plant today after holding it 30 hours.

Company officials immediately turned on the refrigerating plant, which the strikers had shut down, saving an estimated $20,000,000 in meat products.

Pickets remained milling about the plant, but made no effort to interfere with company officials.

Meanwhile two conferences were in progress which might produce some solution to the labor trouble. Governor Floyd B. Olson, who spent here from Minneapolis conferred with Adjutant E. A. Walsh, of the national guard, and Hormel officials. Union leaders were in session with business and professional men.

JAPS ARE WARNED BY COMMUNISTS

Anti-Soviet Acts to Draw Firm Retaliations, Says Red Manifesto.

MOSCOW, Nov. 12.—(AP)—A threat by the far eastern sector of the communist party to bomb from the air Japanese centers of population if Japan attempts aggression into the soviet union, is regarded here as an outspoken warning against the possible violation of the country's far eastern frontier.

The threat is contained in a communist party manifesto published in Vladivostok during recent celebrations marking the anniversary of the October revolution.

It charges Japanese imperialists with creating an armed base in Manchukuo in order to begin war, and declares that Japan lays itself open to "immeasurable catastrophe" if its military party should put into effect its adventurous policy.

"The failure of Japanese troops during their Siberian intervention in 1918 and 1922 and the unsuccessful attempt of Chinese generals about 1929 will be nothing in comparison to the catastrophe the Japanese military monarchy is preparing for itself," the manifesto says.

It points to the great increase of the defensive powers of the red army by the developments of industrialization and the socialist reconstruction of agriculture.

"The red army is supplied with the latest means of defense," the manifesto reads. "We possess a sufficient number of weapons, and our technical achievements enable the army to make wide use of new forms of military operations."

"Our air fleet has assumed one of the first places among world aircraft and is prepared to deal decisive blows at enemy centers of population. With such an array of terrible armament, the soviet union would readily kill any desire to compete against our program of peaceful labor."

Ronald Colman Stars In Film at Paramount

A gripping story from the good old school of writers who stuck to the drama of human emotion and the basis for the Samuel Goldwyn production, "The Masquerader," which opened at the Paramount Saturday, with Ronald Colman and Elissa Landi presenting the difficult roles created by Katherine Cecil Thurston in her novel of the same title.

Good work is always expected from Ronald Colman, and he does not disappoint here, going through the dual role of John Chilcote, young house of commons political hope, and his accommodating cousin, John Loper, with a facility that is remarkable. Although one of the old reliable motifs is employed to bring about an endless string of tense and often amusing contretemps, it is nevertheless a motif which always makes things interesting.

A rapidly-falling victim of "the stuff," John Chilcote is about to drag his political party along with him to the bowwows, when he discovers that he has a double in the person of a distant cousin, who proves quite equal to the task of carrying on the brilliant work in parliament which Chilcote has started. Once in, he finds it hard to extricate himself from the grasp of political friends—and the love of Chilcote's wife.

The two cousins swap identities, and while John Chilcote gives himself up to the ravages of dope, John Loper steps into the parliamentary shoes, retrieves the family honor in a rise to public eminence and gracefully assumes the place in Eve Chilcote's life made vacant by the decay and ultimate death of her once-loved husband.

A special Armistice Day program, with Bob Hess, organist, and Bill Taylor, tenor, and short subjects, complete the program.

"Fury of the Jungle" Is Fine Entertainment

"Fury of the Jungle," feature attraction at the Rialto theater, just misses being a splendid picture. Columbia Pictures Corporation, the producers, and Bill William Neill, the director, had a splendid idea, but somewhere, they lost the inspiration. Now that it isn't a good picture and fine entertainment, but it might so easily have been so much more, it could so easily have been great.

Imagine, if you will, the situation. A tropical village, in the middle of a fever-ridden, miasmic tropic jungle, is the headquarters for a gang of as choice cutthroats as the world can produce. Criminals, every one, come to this haven for the fugitive to escape the just retribution of the law in their respective native lands.

No law, no public opinion. No morals. Just one rule they enforce. The man who steals is fed to the crocodiles. Stealing is the only crime the residents fear.

Into this fantastic society comes a clean and decent English girl with her brother, an explorer, dying of jungle fever. The brother dies, and the girl is left alone to face the reckless passions of the men. The only other member of her sex, except the wild native women, is a half-breed who is crazy with jealousy of the white woman.

Men fight strange duels for the girl's favor while jaguars, volcanoes add the drama to the already tremendous array of menace.

Of course, the girl gets safely away and the end promises wedding bells, etc.

Perhaps that is why the picture misses greatness.

Alan Dinehart, Donald Cook, Peggy Shannon, Toshi Mori, Dudley Digges fill the principal roles in the cast. They like the picture, succeed effectively in missing their opportunities.

Recent newsreel shots and short subjects complete the program, which shows through today and Tuesday.

"The Mad Game" Thrills Audience at Georgia

The Mad Game, playing at the Georgia theater until Wednesday, offers opportunity for some unusually good acting by Spencer Tracy and Claire Trevor. Tracy is seen as Carson, a self-made man who made it all in illegal beer and liquor and finally had to answer to the federal authorities. He has his usual high-handed but hard manner. Miss Trevor, a blonde reporter, who makes her bread and butter by interviewing gangsters whose confidence she has won, gives an unusually good performance.

After the legalization of beer, a gangster, once a pal of Carson (Tracy), turns to the snatch racket, which Carson had always spurned. Meanwhile Carson, who has been sent up, decides to go straight and lend his aid to the federal anti-crime commission. One of the best episodes of the picture is the incident of Carson, while still a prisoner, telling the crime commission how to go about its work.

The gangsters retaliate by kidnapping the son and new daughter-in-law of a federal judge. The judge refuses to knuckle under and from then on there are plenty of hard feelings and harder bullets. Caught between them both are Carson and Jane Lee (Claire Trevor), who locate the kidnapped pair and help to even things up with the gangsters. When the smoke settles the crime is cleared up, not exactly with a happy ending, but with justice, anyway.

Ralph Morgan will be remembered for his portrayal of the honest and fearless judge.

Tarzan and Mary are reunited at last in the final installment of Tarzan and the Females. A re-issue of an old comedy with Charlie Chaplin called The Fireman, brings back the good old slapstick. Pathe News and Friday, complete the program.

REBEL ROUND-UP

Cuban Gunboat Pursues Vessel Filled With Opposing Forces.

HAVANA, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Spurred by renewed reports of rebellion in the interior of Cuba, the government and the army concentrated their efforts today on a national rebel round-up.

A steady stream of prisoners continued arriving at Santiago, a center of rebel activity. A Cuban gunboat was pursuing a boat filled with rebels in the vicinity of Cienfuegos.

Soldiers were reported in pursuit of a band of 40 dissidents armed with rifles, pistols and hand grenades which yesterday captured a ranch near the city of Cienfuegos. They later deserted the place.

Another rebel expedition was reported on foot near Cardenas. A truckload of sailors was dispatched to the interior in search of them.

More rebels in the vicinity of Holguin dynamited a railway bridge. Government officials at Santiago sent 40 soldiers to Holguin in a special train. Others in the vicinity of Tunas captured a store.

Comparative quiet ruled in Havana, so recently the scene of an unsuccessful and disastrous rebellion. Public interest centered in trial of 34 soldiers from Camp Columbia charged with complicity in the recent rebellion.

The death sentence was asked for three of the accused and maximum sentences of six years imprisonment were demanded for the 31 others.

Killed by Own Gun. ALTON, Ill., Nov. 12.—(AP)—Mortally wounded by his own shotgun while hunting rabbits, Leroy Calvey, 14-year-old schoolboy, walked three-quarters of a mile and climbed a hill before he died in a hospital here today.

Newcomers Eliminate Experts From Vanderbilt Cup Chase

By BRYAN COLLIER.

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(AP)—The game of contract bridge, whose mysteries were the secrets of a small circle of experts a few brief years ago, now has become the pastime of the masses.

Pointed proof of this is found in the current matches for the classic Vanderbilt cup, most prized trophy of bridge, for the possession of which two teams will fight it out at 100 boards tomorrow and Tuesday.

Neither of the finalist teams includes a single recognized "big name," though one, at least—that of L. H. Watson, A. M. Barnes, Richard Frey and Saint Fry Jr.—comprises highly seasoned players who have participated, individually, in several major competitions.

It is not, however, a team which would have been given a preferred rating a week ago among those who like to pick the winner.

The other finalist team—Frank Rendon, Benjamin Feyer, Sidney Rusinow and Phil Abramson—is composed entirely of tournament newcomers, a first-water "dark horse" entry.

All points, many experts believe, are in the hands of the newcomers. Heretofore, the Vanderbilt cup has been—almost by mutual consent—the exclusive property of the so-called experts. A dozen or so teams have entered each year, but few of them really hoped to win. It was a foregone conclusion that some well-known combination, usually of men who write books about bridge, would walk off with the handsome bacon.

But this year, from the start, there was a different feeling. Twenty-eight teams were entered, the largest field in history. And even the unknowns played for blood.

Ely Culbertson, as well known as any expert, commented on the changed spirit on the very first day, when a Chicago team refused to be overawed by a defensive "psychic" in a ticklish bidding situation and went on to a slam contract.

"It means," he said, "that the eastern experts no longer have the monopoly. Many people, everywhere, are playing good bridge and not know at the time just how truly he spoke. He did not know that the very first elimination round was to see the fall of such ancient masters as Sidney Lenz and Commander Liggett.

He would not have dared predict that in the first knockout round, a team from Atlanta was destined to eliminate the defending champions—including Harold S. Vanderbilt—nor did he suspect that his own fine force would be eliminated before even the semi-finals were reached.

But—consciously or not—he put his finger on a new epoch in bridge. And, whoever wins the prized Vanderbilt trophy, it will be held for another year by new names.

Next year, the experts predict, there will be an even larger field, even bigger upsets and—even better bridge.

SCHOOL TEACHER HERE TO SPEAK ON RUSSIA

Miss Lillian Heptinstall, well-known Atlanta school teacher, who recently returned from a three-month tour of Russia, will speak on her impressions of that country at 8:15 o'clock Tuesday night in Eggleston hall of the All Saints Episcopal church.

Benjamin Blenoff, native Russian, will sing several solos on the program. He is a baritone. Miss Heptinstall's address is being sponsored by the Young Woman's Auxiliary of St. Philip's cathedral. The Atlanta teacher visited, among other famous places, the home of the internationally known dancer, Anna Pavlova, while in Russia.

POLA NEGRİ CONFINED TO BED BY ILLNESS

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Pola Negri, noted actress, was confined to her hotel room tonight with what her physicians, Dr. I. Kenneth Gardner and Dr. H. M. Ray, described as "inflammation of the gall bladder."

Miss Negri collapsed last night after completing the first week of her American debut on the legitimate stage in a "Trip to Pressburg."

LUCAS FUNERAL RITES TUESDAY

Slayer of Constitution Building Superintendent Held Without Bond.

Funeral services for J. E. Lucas, 47, of 96 Bass street, superintendent of The Constitution building, who was shot to death Saturday night in the lobby of the building by H. H. Sneed, nightwatchman, will be held at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning at the chapel of J. Austin Dillon Company.

Mr. Lucas was fatally wounded at about 9:30 o'clock, a few minutes after he left a party in celebration of his marriage Saturday to the former Mrs. Kate Morgan. He had been called to superintend repairs to plumbing fixtures in the pressroom of the newspaper and was on his way to treat the emergency when he observed that Sneed was intoxicated. He told the man to leave the building and consider himself discharged.

About four months ago, Lucas discharged Sneed for drunkenness, but reinstated the man on his assurance that the circumstance would not be repeated. A few moments after Sneed left the building, he returned and encountered Lucas in the lobby. He fired a pistol at close range five times. When Sneed had emptied the pistol, and finally had been overpowered, Mr. Lucas was found to have suffered four bullet wounds in the abdomen and one in the heart. He was dead upon arrival at Grady hospital.

Sneed, apparently in a stupor, denied that he had shot the man and denied that he had a pistol in his possession. He was placed in jail and held without bond. Sunday he made known that H. O. Allen, an attorney, would represent him, but declined to make a statement.

Mr. Lucas is survived by his bride, and her son, Johnnie Morgan. He had been employed by The Constitution for several years. Mr. Sneed had been in the employ of the newspaper about a year.

Princess Mdivani Will Get Share Of Fortune on Birthday Tomorrow

NEW YORK, Nov. 12.—(AP)—Princess Mdivani, the former Barbara Hutton, will come into possession of her share of the Woolworth 10-cent store fortune on her twenty-first birthday anniversary Tuesday.

Her riches, which have been held by trustees, are estimated variously at from $10,000,000 to $20,000,000. Under the will of her grandfather, F. W. Woolworth, the blonde princess will receive full control of the money at the age of 21.

The princess and her husband, Prince Alexis Mdivani, arrived only last week from Paris, where they were married in June. Before the ceremony a marriage contract was signed, under which the heiress retained control of her fortune.

Friends of the prince said at the time he was getting a large settlement, but that in the event of his wife's death, his inheritance would be limited.

Another heiress, Doris Duke, will be 21 years old a week from Tuesday, at which time she will come into control of part of the trust fund established by James B. Duke, her tobacco magnate father.

Some of her fortune will remain in trust until she is 25 years old, and another portion will not be turned over to her until she is 30.

Other nations in stopping the shipment of arms to an aggressor nation. France was accused of a refusal to make vital concessions to Germany in time. "If France had abolished reparations and had sought co-operation, Hitlerism would not have arisen," Nash asserted.

MONEY FLOWING HOME FROM C. C. CAMPS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(UP)—Members of the civilian conservation corps will send more than $35,000,000 home to needy dependents during the coming winter, Robert D. Fechner, director of the nation's forest army, said tonight.

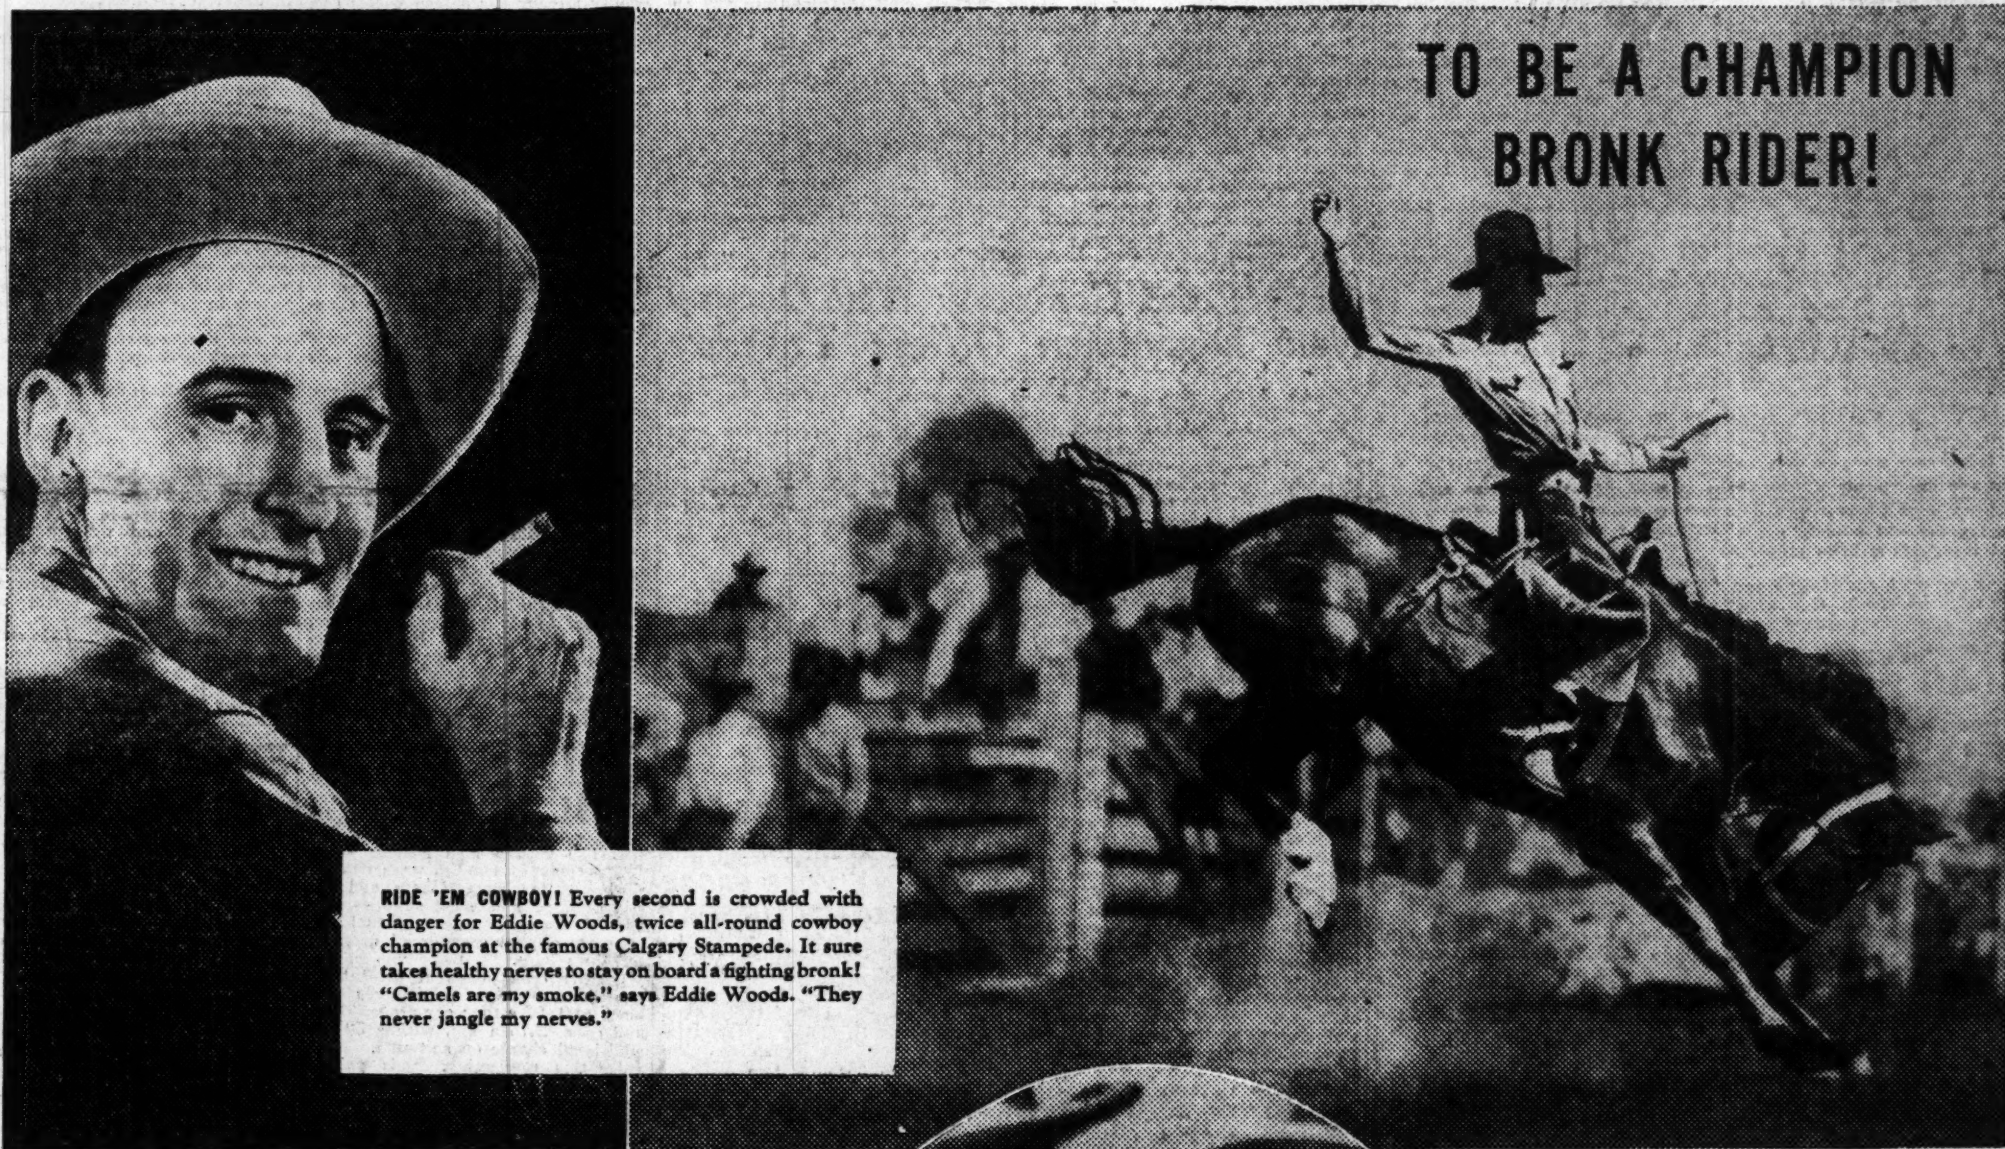

He estimated that more than 1,500,000 persons or 300,000 families would benefit from these cash allotments.

IT TAKES HEALTHY NERVES

TO BE A CHAMPION BRONK RIDER!

(LEFT) "OUT ON THE RANCH I smoke devoted to riding and smoking Camels. Even though I am in the tenderfoot class I need healthy nerves. And Camels do not upset my nerves. That is important to a woman!"

IT IS MORE FUN TO KNOW

Camels are made from finer, MORE EXPENSIVE tobaccos than any other popular brand.

Steady Smokers turn to Camels

EDDIE WOODS, one of the "top hands" of the cowboy world, says:

"Ten seconds on the back of an outlaw horse is about the hardest punishment for a man's nerves that anybody can imagine. To have nerves that can take it, I smoke only Camels. I've tried them all, but Camels are my smoke! They have a natural mildness, and I like their taste better. Most important of all, Camels do not jangle my nerves, even when I light up one Camel after another."

If you are nervous... jumpy... inclined to "fly off the handle"... change to Camels. Your own nerves and taste will confirm the fact that this milder cigarette, made from costlier tobaccos, is better for steady smoking.

ROUND TABLE OF BUSINESS

Edited By JACK TUBBS

M. & M. Offers Complete Storage, Distribution Service on Merchandise

BUSINESS TREND TURNING UPWARD, SAYS EXECUTIVE

Location, Equipment and Organization Meet All Requirements of Storers and Distributors.

From its vantage point of contact with manufacturers and distributors, and with its fingers on the pulse of business in the southeast, the M. & M. Warehouse Company, 29 Haynes street, N. W., reports a definite quickening of trade and a constant improvement in sales volume.

No truer indication of business trends is offered, says an executive of the M. & M., than the volume of goods which pass through any major point of distribution.

As proof of the upturn in business conditions in the southeast, he points to the fact that numerous shippers have sought information in recent weeks on distribution facilities in Atlanta, and many are contemplating entering or returning to this territory in the near future. This, he asserts, will boost office rentals and the employment of salesmen and office help in Atlanta, adding greatly to the city's business.

It is natural that many of these inquiries should come to the M. & M. Warehouse Company, for it is the oldest merchandise warehouse in the city, having handled the storage and distribution of merchandise for many national manufacturers throughout the Atlanta territory for more than 20 years.

With very few exceptions, says an M. & M. official, manufacturers interested in sales in the southeast select Atlanta as their distributing city.

The M. & M. company prides itself on its excellent building facilities and operating equipment, which enable the company to efficiently perform the innumerable services required by the storer and his customers.

The first floor level has a covered platform which abuts on an A, B, & C railroad spur track, accommodating 20 cars. Merchandise thus may be loaded and unloaded to and from the platform, offering thorough protection to all merchandise from damage due to weather conditions.

The most modern hand trucks, 4-wheel floats, special dollies and special lift trucks are provided for the handling of different types of boxes, barrels, drums, marketing crates, rolls, etc., both without and inside the warehouse, giving the storer every assurance that his goods will be properly handled.

In connection with the loading and unloading facilities, the M. & M. company points with a great deal of pride to its three 3-ton elevators, the largest of their kind in Atlanta. Of 6,800 pounds capacity, they serve all floors, thus making it possible to handle goods in the quickest possible time.

The third floor level platform on the Haynes street side of the building accommodates more than 20 trucks for loading or unloading at one time. Thus, local customers calling for their goods at this platform are never delayed because of platform congestion. Due to the location of the warehouse, local trucks can make round trips to the M. & M. platform from any part of the city without meeting heavy traffic. This factor is one of special importance to truck owners, who realize the heavy expense incurred by delays and waiting time.

Several of the nation's largest manufacturers in their respective lines have their district sales offices in the M. & M. Warehouse Company building, with facilities comparable to those of any building in the city. With their offices under the same roof with their warehouse stocks, these companies are able to have their orders filled if necessary in a matter of minutes after received. Such a close contact between storer and warehouse has proved advantageous to both parties in countless instances.

During the past years, the M. & M. Warehouse Company has been called upon to perform many special services, such as handling of invoicing, collections and credits, that formerly were performed by the manufacturer. These demands have made it necessary that this warehouse have the efficient organization it has—one able to meet the exacting requirements of any storer.

cal improvement in business conditions is reflected by the fact that the company now is working the largest number of employees in its history.

"The outlook is better than ever before," declares F. B. Graham, general manager, "and we are planning for a larger volume of business in 1934 than ever before. Prospects are exceedingly bright."

Dodge truck sales during the last 60 days, Mr. Graham reports, have been better than in many years, indicative of better times and a decidedly optimistic future.

"Plymouth and Dodge car sales continue to forge ahead," he reports, "and we expect next year to be a banner year. We have rarely seen such a consistent business improvement. In this connection, we are cognizant of a much better feeling among the people about us, and the NRA is undoubtedly proving to be a great success in bringing about a return of confidence.

"There also is a consistent and noticeable improvement in collections and a steady decrease in the number of repossessions. People again are earning money and are buying and paying for cars."

Mr. Graham expresses a firm belief that the pre-holiday season will not experience its usual business hold-up, and that sales for November will register a clear gain over last month as well as over November, 1932.

The company maintains two plants—at 111 Ivy street, N. E., and at 352 Spring street, N. W.

QUALITY COAL CO. STRESSES BENEFIT OF EARLY BUYING

Dealers Urge Stocking of Bins Against Higher Prices for Fuel During Winter Season.

Coal prices, which already have begun a steady rise from depression levels, are headed for still higher peaks, according to executives of the Quality Coal Company, who urge early purchases not only to take advantage of present prices but to avoid the delays which "in-season" deliveries sometimes necessitate.

Homeowners, especially those who have available money and can take advantage of present price levels and store away their winter's supply, are urged to act quickly, in order that they may be insured of getting the proper grade of coal or coke for their needs.

Due to labor difficulties which long have curtailed production in many parts of the country, coal stocks are rapidly becoming depleted, bringing the consequent threat of increasing prices as the season advances.

The Quality Coal Company, a comparatively young concern but one whose reputation for service and quality already has gained widespread recognition, handles the products of only old and reliable mine companies.

From a small beginning, the company has developed into one of the best known and most popular in the city, basing its success upon sound business principles, the quality of its products, the efficiency of its service and courtesy in its relations with its customers.

Occupying the old site of Seiple Sons at 350 Castleberry street, with frontage on the Central of Georgia railway tracks, the Quality Coal Company was formed in October, 1931, by K. S. "Punk" Malone.

In April, 1932, he was joined by George Clayton, who acquired a half interest in the business. Still later they were joined by Walter R. Bush, the trio now being co-proprietors.

Bush, Clayton and Malone, respectively, had served for five, twenty-three and eleven years previously with one of the largest coal companies in the south, this experience proving of inestimable value to them in building up their present business.

An indication of the phenomenal growth the Quality Coal Company has experienced since its foundation is shown by the fact it was launched with one T-model Ford truck and has expanded to the point where a fleet of seven large trucks is now necessary to serve the company's growing territory.

The company, during the first year of its existence, sold more than 15,000 tons of coal.

The Quality Coal Company specializes in Silver King coal and Semet-Solvay coke. The former is a red ash Kentucky coal and the company executives declare Semet-Solvay to be the finest coke available. It is a low ash coke with a high heating value.

The company handles wash nut and slack coal for home stokers, and carries kindling and wood supplies also.

Special discount rates on coal and coke are offered commercial users on certain orders.

Quality cash prices at present are quoted as follows: Best grade of block coal, $7 a ton; egg grade, $6.75; and coke $8.75 a ton, with a 50-cent additional charge on accounts.

In this connection, it is pointed out that the company plays a large part in filling relief association orders and in filling orders for poor and needy families who can buy only in small quantities. To fulfill this need, it offers sacked coal at 35c or three sacks for $1.

Orders, however, are filled in any desired quantity, from sack quantities to carloads. The company, it is pointed out, does a large volume of business with and for apartment houses.

Fuel experts are available upon call at any time, prepared to analyze the coal or coke needs of home, apartment or building owner and to prescribe the correct fuel for his heating equipment.

Chas. N. Walker Roofing Co. Waterproofing Plays Important Role at New Postoffice

Atlanta's new postoffice building, rapidly nearing completion on the block abutting on Forsyth, Hunter and Spring streets, is connected by waterproofed underground tunnel with the rear of the Terminal station, in order to facilitate the movement of mails to and from trains. The tunneling, waterproofing and attendant membrane work are in charge of the Chas. N. Walker Roofing Company, whose engineer, L. M. Thompson, states the work will be completed within approximately 30 days. Waterproofing was found necessary to stem the streams of water which poured into the tunnel from the soil and concrete surrounding it.

Any building can be securely proofed against rain and kindred elements, just as a first-class roofing can give absolute proof against the icy winds of winter, according to L. M. Thompson, tunneling engineer connected with the Chas. N. Walker Roofing Company, 141 Houston street, N. E.

Mr. Thompson, an engineer with years of experience in tunneling, ironite waterproofing and membrane work, is in charge of all work of this nature in the construction of the new Atlanta postoffice at Forsyth, Hunter and Spring streets, one of only a few such jobs ever attempted in the south.

Four hundred and seventeen feet long, extending from the new postoffice building along Spring street to Mitchell street and thence to the rear of the Terminal station, the tunneling has been completed and during the last 30 days Mr. Thompson's crew has been engaged in installing membrane work and waterproofing the passages. Thirty days more will be required for this work.

The draining of the concrete over and surrounding the postal service tunnel, says Mr. Thompson, was no small part of the job. This concrete, he states, was literally filled with water, which poured—not seeped—into the tunnel thoroughfare.

In this work of sealing and waterproofing the tunnel, ironite was found to be the most successful material of its kind to be used, just as it has proved countless times before on similar jobs.

The Charles N. Walker Roofing Company has completed numerous other jobs of this kind throughout the south, and at present is engaged in tunneling and waterproofing at the new Macon postoffice, and in damp-proofing and caulking of windows at the Atlanta federal penitentiary. Its engineers operate throughout the south.

This, however, is by no means the company's only specialty. As its name implies, its major specialty is roofing material, of which it carries Trulock and Lockfast shingles, roll roofing, tile, tar and gravel roofing and top-sheets (membrane).

In this connection, Mr. Thompson points to the important fact that prices of both materials and labor are on the upturn, and that further price advances on roofing may be expected in the near future.

It is distinctly to the home-owner's advantage to have his re-roofing or roof repairs done at present, Mr. Thompson states: First, because of the possible economies already cited; second, because of the necessity for closely-sealed, warmth-preserving roofs in the coming winter; third, because of the resulting 20 to 30 per cent saving on winter fuel; and fourth, because of consequent lowering of fire insurance rates.

Federal Board Backs Oil Price Regulation

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(AP)—A strong defense of federal regulation of petroleum prices was made today by the oil industry's planning and co-ordination committee while reports were heard that prices due to become effective December 1 might be postponed or revised sharply.

The committee contended in a formal statement that emergency conditions which led to the price-fixing order of Secretary Hicks, oil administrator, still existed.

Leaders in the oil business, commenting privately, based their expectation of a possible postponement of price-fixing on data asked by the petroleum administrative board of all oil companies and operators in calling hearings on the proposed prices. The hearings are to open within the next 10 days to two weeks.

CRACKER HEADS GO TO MEMPHIS; THEN GALVESTON

Robinson and Abbott To Seek New and Better Material.

By Jimmy Jones.

Atlanta's delegation to the two major baseball meetings of the year—the Southern at Memphis Monday and the National at Galveston, Texas, two days later—entrained yesterday afternoon with several important issues in mind.

Primary among them, of course, is the extensive bartering campaign that President Wilbert Robinson and Manager Spencer Abbott will launch for the acquisition of new and better material for the Atlanta club. Following are some of the steps in the procedure:

1. Selection of players will be left entirely up to Abbott, the new manager, who has the reputation of practicing canny judgment in choosing good ball players—not so much on their records, but on their ability to fit into a winning combination.

TO SEEK LIMIT RAISE.

2. At Memphis, President Robinson will make an earnest effort to raise the player limit to 17 players, instead of 16 and also to get two of the six rookies required last year.

3. An effort may possibly be made at Galveston to swing the 1934 national baseball meeting to Atlanta, which city has volunteered no official invitation but would benefit hugely from such a meeting, which brings hundreds of visitors annually and an influx of spending cash. The national meeting is the biggest thing of its kind in baseball and is attended by all major and minor league club officers, as well as managers and countless notables. Atlanta has never had the meeting.

4. No effort to have the salary limit raised is in prospect, in the Southern league, mainly because some of the poorer clubs can't afford a higher salary under present conditions and four known objectors to an increase have already expressed themselves. It is believed that Memphis, Birmingham, Knoxville and Little Rock will oppose a wholesale salary hike and they need only one more vote for a majority.

WANT AUBE.

5. Both President Robinson and Manager Abbott will make an effort to pry Hornblum (Jack) Aube, right-handed pitcher, loose from the New York Yankees for another year. Aube showed great promise with the Crackers last year. It is believed that the Yankees may consent to letting Robby and Abbott have the youngster, for he still needs seasoning in a league of this caliber.

6. The Crackers regret the loss of Max Butcher, strapping right-hander, in the draft to Baltimore, believing that he would have been a star another season, but the fact remains that the Crackers will realize $4,500—the draft price—for him.

7. It is believed the Chicago Cubs will either retain Ted Kleinhaus, the Crackers ace, or send him to their Los Angeles (Coast league) farm. Kleinhaus was sold to the late William Veeck, Cub president, for $7,500 and a player on option, before the season ended, mainly because Robinson knew he would be lost in the draft unless sold. The deal made by Veeck will be honored by the Cubs, of course, since "Robby" holds a letter on the arrangement.

LIKES KLEINHANS.

"We hope Kleinhaus sticks, of course, and that we get a good ball player in place of him," Robinson stated. Kleinhaus is a great spring pitcher and for this reason it is believed that he will show enough to warrant the Cubs retaining him.

Spencer Abbott, who will join Robinson in Memphis, is planning heavily on making something of Eugenio Rioser, young right-handed pitcher, and Taft Wright, outfielder, players obtained from the Charlotte club. Abbott also likes the reports he had on Duck McKee, Buster Chatham, Red Rollins and Neisler and it wouldn't be at all surprising for him to suggest holding all those players over. McKee is capable of playing even better than he did last year, Abbott believes.

The Sunday situation in Atlanta may hold up the Southern league schedule for a time. However, Robinson will suggest a tentative schedule to include Sunday games for Atlanta so arranged as to shift dates to Saturday double-headers in case Sabbath baseball fails to go through here.

Some of the "dead wood" on the Crackers roster will be traded. Atlanta is angling for two of the players on the Cincinnati roster, in case they are waived out of the National.

Robinson held a conference with the Atlanta directors yesterday before his departure.

"We are ready to do business but can't tell exactly what will be our course until I see Abbott at Memphis," Robinson declared.

Secretary Earl Mann accompanied Robinson to Memphis.

Directors Convene For Loop Meet.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Nov. 12.—(AP)—The directors of the Southern Association of Baseball Clubs will conduct their annual business meeting here tomorrow.

As Georgia Won Over Yale Again

Georgia's Red Raiders conquered Yale again Saturday, making it four victories in a row and becoming the only team, besides Harvard, to hold such a record over the Blue Bulldogs of New Haven. These action pictures are the first to be published in Atlanta. Top left, Homer Key, who again was a will-o'-the-wisp to the Yale team, is shown (in circle) making a short gain through the line. He is in the air over Yale line-men. Bottom left, Key (arrow) is off again. Desperate Yale tacklers are seeking vainly to grab his nimble legs. It was Key who stepped off 40 yards to put the Bulldogs of Athens in position to score. Top right, Buck Chapman, Georgia's raging fullback (indicated by arrow), is across the goal for the only touchdown of the game. Bottom right, Cy Grant, Georgia's great halfback (circle), is shown making a short gain. A Georgia blocker is ahead of him. Yale concentrated on stopping Grant and gave Key and Chapman free reign. These are Associated Press photos rushed to The Constitution by air mail.

BULLDOGS NEED TWO VICTORIES TO WIN TITLE

Jackets Entertain Crimson Team That Is Showing Strong Attack.

By Jack Troy.

There will be no rest for the weary Georgia Bulldogs this week. One of the country's six major unbeaten, untied teams, Georgia faces no less a foe than Auburn in the annual battle at Columbus.

And Auburn is tough. As whit-leather is tough, so is Auburn after a rambling start that gave an impression Chet Wynne's Tigers didn't have it.

The Auburn players weren't howling coyotes of the Plains against Oglethorpe simply because they didn't need to exert themselves. They easily could have been. But Chet Wynne chose to use a mixed team and let several injured regulars rest.

DIFFERENT TALE.

But it will be different against Georgia. The Oglethorpe game was a good preparatory game for the Georgia contest. And Auburn will be ready.

Georgia defeated Yale easily, despite a score of 7 to 0. The Bulldogs could have scored more had more scores been necessary. And so the Georgia-Auburn game is easily the best of this Saturday's southern program, with Auburn certainly having a chance.

In beating Yale again, Georgia made it four straight. Only Harvard has such a splendid record in competition with old Eli. The Southeastern conference title is now Georgia's goal. The Bulldogs only need two more victories.

Georgia Tech got around the bad breaks Saturday and polished off Florida, 19 to 7. The Jackets seem to have found themselves at last and will meet Alabama this Saturday at Grant field in an improved frame of mind.

MORE PUNCH.

Of late Alabama has been showing more offensive punch. This is attested by Saturday's crushing victory over V. P. I., 27 to 0. And the Tidesmen still remember last year's game at Grant field when a Tech second team manhandled an Alabama first team and won, 6 to 0.

Tech and Alabama take second place in Saturday's round-up. Alabama is unbeaten but has been tied in the conference.

Other Southeastern conference games this week bring together Kentucky and Tulane at New Orleans, Louisiana State and Mississippi at Baton Rouge, Sewanee and Mississippi State at Starkville, and Tennessee and Vanderbilt at Knoxville.

Saturday's chief happenings were, of course, Georgia's victory over Yale, Tech's conquest of Florida, Mississippi's elimination from title consideration by Tennessee, 35-0; Tulane's smashing 33-0 victory over Mississippi State and Vanderbilt's victory over Sewanee, 27 to 14.

INTER-CONFERENCE.

Alabama and Kentucky, playing inter-conference games, box score. 'Bama slaughtered V. P. I., 27 to 0, and Kentucky battered V. M. I., 21 to 6.

Casey Kimbrell and Firpo Phipps put on a two-man scoring parade to win for Auburn over Oglethorpe, 27 to 6. Between them Kimbrell and Phipps scored all the points.

Mercer goes to Savannah to play Clemson after trouncing Chattanooga, 7 to 0, and Oglethorpe is on the road again, playing The Citadel at Augusta Saturday.

The standings of the Southeastern conference football teams, including points scored and opponents' points, follow:

TEAM	W	L	T	pts.
Georgia	4	0	1	111
Alabama	3	0	1	88
Vanderbilt	2	0	2	180
Tennessee	2	0	1	87
Kentucky	2	1	0	85
Tulane	2	1	0	80
Mississippi	1	3	0	41
Auburn	1	1	0	86
Georgia Tech	1	1	0	81
Florida	1	3	0	44
Louisiana	0	6	1	110
Mississippi State	0	4	0	27
Sewanee	0	4	0	33

Stecker, Almand Headline Mat Card

A newcomer to Atlanta will appear tonight in the new indoor Fair street arena. Fair street and Capitol avenue when the pride of Omaha, Nebraska, known as Young Stecker, meets Sun Almand.

Promoter Jason Thompson is giving Sun his big chance, for Stecker is one of the topnotchers in the game. He has met Gus Sonnenberg, Don George, and the present titleholder, Jim Browning. Last week in Chicago, he drew with the present light-heavyweight champ. If Sun Almand succeeds in tossing Stecker in his two-hour limit go, he will be in line for more of the big time. Both wrestlers are likely to get a little rough, but the match is sure to be fast and close.

Bill Crussell, of Birmingham, Ala., has been saying plenty about what would happen if he ever got hold of Gentleman John Mauldin, but promoters had not been able to get the two into the same ring until tonight's match was arranged by Matchmaker Thompson. It's not often that a real grudge battle comes along, but this one will be faster and rougher than any faint-hearted fan would care to see.

John Dameron, the "Kirkwood Terror," will go up against the veteran Jack McAdams in the opener tonight. Dameron is young and tough, McAdams is old in the ring and maybe tougher, but they'll find out which is which when they tie up at 8 o'clock tonight.

Reserved seats are available in the big steam-heated arena, and may be obtained by calling DEarborn 3932.

Bears Pause Here On Trip Home

Coach Lake Russell and his Mercer Bears paused here for lunch yesterday. The Bears were returning home after winning over Chattanooga Saturday at Chattanooga.

Coach Russell said Jake Trommerhouse, star passer who has been injured, would be available for the Clemson game this Saturday at Savannah.

Russell was pleased to hear that Army had walloped Harvard and that Mercer still remains the only team to cross the Cadet goal line this season.

ATLANTA PROS WIN HERE, 16-0

Collegiate stars of a yesteryear uncorked their bag of college-learned tricks to give the Atlanta professional football team a 16-0 victory over a pro team from Chattanooga, at Ponce de Leon park.

In a wide open game, marked by long broken field runs and daring spectacular passes, Atlanta had little difficulty in turning back the eleven from Moccasin Bend.

Pat Barron, the last of a dynasty of scintillating ball carriers, spun and romped, much to the delight of a large, good-natured crowd which seemed in a reminiscent mood. It was Barron who many times put the ball in scoring distance and it was Barron who broke away time after time for lengthy, color-splashed runs.

Benny Rothstein, erstwhile University of Georgia player, by his manner of running, gave every indication that he had forgotten little of the football prestidigitation garnered while still a "rah-rah" boy.

Mercer Plays Clemson Next at Savannah

By Tobe Edwards.

MACON, Ga., Nov. 13.—After beating the University of Chattanooga 7-0 last Saturday, Coach Lake Russell's Mercer Bears turned their attentions toward preparations for the coming clash Saturday in Savannah with Clemson College.

The Bears will take a light drill Monday to iron the kinks caused from last week's fray and then turn on all steam ahead for Savannah and the Clemson Tiger.

A gala program is in the making for Savannah next Saturday beginning with a speech by President Franklin Roosevelt at 10 a. m., followed by other items and climaxed with the Bear-Tiger football game.

Few people in the southland realize the strength of the 1933 Mercer Bear eleven. Their strong showing in the early game with Army was hailed by eastern critics but native Georgians turned only sympathetic ears. Then the Navy game was placed in the books and Lake Russell's team was still in the precincts voting strongly.

There may be better tackles in the south than Swede Olson and Red Camp, of the Bears, but you can't convince Mercer adherents of that fact. Their play in the Georgia game, in fact the play of the entire Mercer line, has been one of the highlights of state football history this season.

With a squad of only 25 men, Lake Russell has faced a suicide schedule and brought the wearers of the Orange and Black once more to a high plane. Little Mercer is "little" no more and their two remaining clashes with Clemson next Saturday in Savannah and Oglethorpe in Macon on December 2 will climax a successful season despite the absence of a long string of victories.

DUKE TO PLAY TARHEELS NEXT

By Frank H. Fuller.

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 12.—(AP)—Duke's great Blue Devil team and North Carolina's up-and-coming Tarheels clash in the Southern conference headliner this week, while Virginia, Maryland and South Carolina will center attention upon state rivalries of major importance.

Duke, victor over Carolina last year for the first time in 40 years, is the prime favorite because of a record which has made the Wade-coached Blue Devil eleven a contender for the mythical national championship, but a sure-fire scrap of the first magnitude is always the order of the day in this classic of the Old North State.

North Carolina, blasted by four opponents at the start of the season, has developed rapidly since the Georgia game and has turned back North Carolina State and crushed Wake Forest. The Tarheels will go to Durham in the unusual role of the underdog and prepared to show Duke a thing or two before the day is over.

Virginia Tech invades Scott stadium at Charlottesville to battle Virginia in the Old Dominion's principal attraction. The Techmen, battered by Alabama's Red Elephants last week, will be thirsting for a victory, which may or may not be theirs. Virginia yesterday battled a fine Washington and Lee team to a standstill, the same team that tied Tech, and lost when Joe Sawyers ended the full team to run 85 yards with a punt.

The fur is expected to fly at Columbia when South Carolina, after finishing its Southern conference season with a perfect three-game record, encounters the Purple Hurricane from

Atlanta Prep Teams Are Away This Week

By Roy White.

There will be a lull in Atlanta's football circles this week, and it will be that "lull before the storm." For the first time in many years during the season there is no regular game scheduled for the city's fields, and no more night games are slated this year.

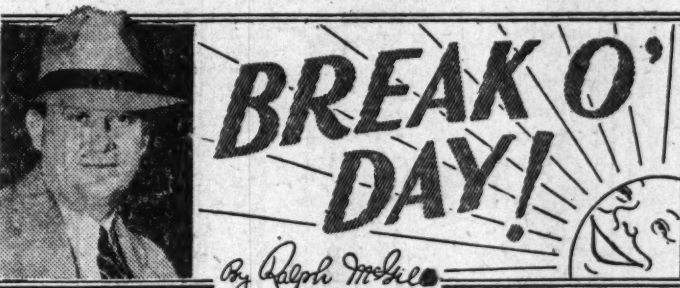

Boys' High, defeated only by Lanier High Saturday in Macon, plays Savannah High in Savannah on Friday afternoon. G. M. A. plays Baylor Academy Friday in Chattanooga, and Tech High, the other members of the Big Three, will have a much-needed off day. The Smithies have played nine games already this season.

In the North Georgia interscholastic conference, Marietta plays a Friday afternoon game with the alumni. Decatur plays at Marietta; Russell plays in LaGrange; and Druid Hills plays in Griffin. University School and Commercial have open dates, along with Tech High.

None of the games are of championship contention and each of the teams in action have been beaten at least once this season.

Mehre's First Football Coach Marvels at Georgia's Power and Skill

EN ROUTE ATLANTA WITH GEORGIA FOOTBALL TEAM, Nov. 12.—Eddie McNamara sat back in the big draughty bowl at New Haven Saturday afternoon and watched Georgia punch over a touchdown and then hold on to win.

Eddie McNamara had come over from Philadelphia to see the game. And as he sat there he kept saying to himself, with his eyes on Harry Mehre:

"Can that be the young kid who came up to the Notre Dame freshman team in 1918? Is it all real? Here I am sitting here watching that kid's team beat Yale. And it doesn't seem possible."

Eddie McNamara was the first football coach Harry Mehre ever had. Because Mehre, when he went to Notre Dame, had never played football. He went out for the team merely as a matter of course.

And McNamara, now a successful businessman at Philadelphia, had not seen Mehre since the old days at Notre Dame.

And when he did see him he watched him send out onto the field one of the best synchronized teams the Yale bowl has ever seen. A team which got its score and then held to it.

Georgia is beginning to play more and more on the defense after early scores.

And this Yale team, which had one of the best backs in the east in Bill Keesling, is coming along. It was a hard-driving team. It had offense and defense. And I would not be very much surprised if Yale beats Princeton when they meet.

Presently the weird cries ceased as suddenly as they had commenced. "Simba!" said the headman of the natives. "It was not Simba," declared another. "It ran high upon two legs, like a man!" Presently from the jungle came a hideous cry. "It is a demon," said another.

In the darkness of the jungle Tarzan paused and laid aside his spear and bow, possession of which had permitted him to use but one hand in his abduction of the sentry. Now the fingers of his free hand closed upon the throat of his victim.

Only for an instant did Tarzan choke the man; and when he relaxed his grip upon the fellow's throat, the black made no further outcry, fearing to invite again the ungentle grip of those steel fingers. Quickly Tarzan jerked the fellow to his feet.

Relieving him of his knife, he pushed the fellow ahead of him into the jungle, after stooping to retrieve his spear and bow. For the effect it would have not only upon his prisoner, but upon the sentry's fellows in the camp, he voiced the victory cry of the bull-eape.

FOOD CODE PLANS DROPPED BY U. S.

Advisory Board, Including Atlanta, Is Dis- solved by AAA.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 12.—(AP)—The farm administration has abandoned its plan for promulgation of a master food code and at the same time announced dissolution of the food industry's advisory board, an unofficial group consisting of representatives of distributing and processing industries.

Instead of a single master code, the administration will now direct its efforts toward master codes for each branch of the food industry, with separate ones for manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers. These are to be supplemented by codes covering various divisions of these general branches.

There were conflicts in the explanation for dissolution of the board which was organized by Charles J. Brand, former co-administrator of the farm act, who resigned in September after being subjected to criticism. Brand organized the board last June.

Farm Administrator George N. Peek explained through his aides that the board "had served its purpose" and that its members desired to be released of even an informal association with the farm administration, so this country's industry completely free to represent their industries during the formulation of codes and marketing agreements.

Reports persisted, however, that some members of the board were out of sympathy with the farm administration's plans for codes and agreements and were also irked by the delay in formulating codes. There are more than 500 such proposals awaiting action by the farm administration.

The advisory board's staff, recruited in June, was disbanded last month but the executive committee had continued to function. The members of this committee were C. M. Chester, New York, president of the General Foods Corporation; R. R. Deupree, Cincinnati, president of Procter & Gamble Company; Arthur C. Dorrance, Camden, N. J., president of Campbell Soup Company; and Roy E. Tomlinson, New York, president of the National Biscuit Company.

Spokesmen for the farm administration asserted that the dissolution of the board came about through mutual agreement and that no important differences of opinion had developed between members of the board and the farm administration. A portion of a letter by Peek was made public in which he expressed "appreciation" for the aid given by members of the board and informed them that if "the need arises" he would call upon them for assistance once more.

U. D. C. MAY FIGHT FOR SCHOOL BOOKS FAIRER TO SOUTH

BALTIMORE, Nov. 12.—(AP)—The United Daughters of the Confederacy, who meet in convention here Tuesday, probably will take steps to push their fight for the adoption of school histories which give a "fair" picture of the south's position and action in the Civil war, tonight declared Mrs. John H. Anderson, of Raleigh, N. C., historical general of the organization.

"The Daughters achieved a great victory in South Carolina," said Mrs. Anderson. "Educators there told publishers they would consider no history book that had not received the endorsement of the Daughters of the Confederacy."

Mrs. Anderson, who was among the early arrivals to the convention, added that "the preservation of history is the first object of the United Daughters of the Confederacy." Thursday night of the convention has been set aside as historical night.

Gettysburg's Heroes From Alabama Are Honored by D. C. Memorial

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Nov. 12.—(AP)—A memorial to the courage and heroism of Alabama troops in the battle of Gettysburg was presented to the nation today by women of the Alabama division, United Daughters of the Confederacy.

Saying "both sides fought for great ideals," Mrs. L. M. Bashinsky, of Troy, Ala., past president-general of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, praised the valor of Confederate and Union troops alike.

The figures on the memorial of bronze and granite symbolize the spirit of the Confederacy. A woman, with outstretched arms, restrains a wounded youth and urges an older man into battle. The memorial commands the Round Tops and Devils Den where the Alabama troops fought to attain Little Round Top the morning of July 2, 1863.

Mrs. Gustave Mertins, of Montgomery, Ala., president of the Alabama division, U. D. C., formally presented the monument to the Government after Mrs. Lewis Swall, of Mobile, Ala., chairman of the memorial committee, had unveiled it.

Extending Governor Gifford Pinchot's greetings, Richard J. Beamish, secretary of the commonwealth, said a mighty effort to make social justice a reality has replaced the armed conflict that once was waged here.

United States Senator Hugo L. Black, of Alabama, represented Governor B. M. Miller of that state, and created with tributes to 30,000 children of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, was placed by Mrs. R. B. Broyles, of Birmingham.

The plan of the memorial, Joseph Urner, of Fredericks, Md., was introduced.

RACKETEERS BOMB OHIO NEWS PLANT

Blast at Mansfield Fol- lows Warning To "Lay Off" Crusade.

MANFIELD, Ohio, Nov. 12.—(AP)—The plant of the Mansfield News-Journal was bombed early today, eight hours after the editor of the newspaper received a racketeer warning to "lay off" his crusade.

The bomb exploded in the mailing room at 4:06 a. m. The floor was tipped up and windows in the plant and in nearby buildings were shattered.

G. J. Koehenderfer, editor of the News-Journal, has been a consistent crusader against racketeering of all kinds. In frequent editorials he has called for stricter law enforcement and for the eradication of bootlegging, slot machine and other racketeering.

The plant, a three-story building, was bombed two years ago, and shortly thereafter a smoke bomb was exploded in the building occupied by the News-Journal.

Since that time the papers were merged into the News-Journal. John Richards, night watchman in the plant, had just passed through the mailing room when the bomb let loose. He escaped injury, but suffered from shock. The pressroom and other departments of the newspaper were damaged.
